Panther kittens

Three good reasons why the Michigan Panthers, the reigning United States Football League champs, had the fans cheering for them this season are attractive Sue Ducharme (from left) of New Boston, Stephanie Kherker of Belleville and Grisele Davis of Romulus. The area trio was among a score of selective beauties who made the Panthers' inaugural cheerleading squad.

Murder trial set for Heisler, Frye

Sept. 27 is the trial date for co-defendants Gregory Heisler and John Frye, charged with first degree murder in the death of Dixie Cobb of New Boston.

Asst. Prosecutor Murray Slomovitz offered no reduced plea in either case at the arraignment and pre-trial session at Circuit Court in Detroit last Thursday.

The two defendants waived their arraignment and pleaded not guilty. The proceeding, mostly paper work, was handled in the court of Judge Joe B. Sullivan.

A member of the Defender's Office, Samuel Churekian, was appointed on behalf of Heisler, and Frye's attorney, Alan Helmkamp, filed the necessary legal papers at the session in the City-County Building.

The attorney who will represent Heisler during the trial is not yet known.

It is expected that the Prosecutor will make a motion prior to the trial to consolidate the two cases into one trial. Whether this will be allowed, particularly in the case of defendant Frye, is a matter of conjecture.

Heisler and Frye are being held without bond in Wayne County Jail.

Dixie Cobb, 41, died by manual strangulation, according to an autopsy, at her residence in New Boston on June 20.

Campaign '83 heats up

Ready to submit his petitions to city clerk Ray Cantrell, Mayor William Oakley (at left) gives his petitions a final going over. The mayor made it official — he's seeking his fourth term as the City of Romulus' mayor. There won't be a primary for the job, though. Mayor Oakley has one serious contender for the job — city treasurer Beverly McAnally who's also in the race.

Primary is slated

25 file petitions for city offices

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

Twenty-five persons have filed petitions to be candidates for elective office in Romulus this November.

The deadline was 4 p.m. Tuesday to submit the certified petitions containing no less than 100 nor more than 200 signatures.

Of those who filed petitions, two are running for mayor, four are bidding for the Treasurer's position, and two are competing for the office of Clerk.

Seventeen individuals have filed petitions for the seven council positions, requiring a primary on Sept. 12. From the results of the primary, the top 14 candidates will be put on the ballot in the Nov. 8 general election.

In that election, the top 7 vote-getters will become members of the Council.

The candidates who have indicated their interest in elective office this year reads like a roster of Romulus' short 13-year history. Many have held or ran for elective office before.

Mayor William M. Oakley will be pursuing his fourth two-year term. He also served on the City Council for 7 years.

He will be opposed by Beverly McAnally, currently the City Treasurer serving her second two-year term. She also served on city council for six years.

For the Treasurer's position, vacated by McAnally, John Lewkowicz, city councilman and former two-term Treasurer, is making a bid.

Lewkowicz was elected to Council in 1981. He was unseated as Treasurer in 1977 by Helen Gallien who in turn was defeated by McAnally.

To fight landfills

Huron Twp. Board to ask for special millage election

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

A special millage election Sept. 20 to ask taxpayers to finance a Professional Defense Fund against landfills, has been requested by the Township Board.

At a special session last Wednesday, the Board unanimously approved a motion to authorize the Clerk to notify the Wayne County Election Schedule Committee to schedule a special millage election.

No specifics have been officially discussed regarding the amount of the millage, but some have projected a 2-mill, 2-year proposition.

If this were to pass, it would amount to about $185,000 a year or a total of $370,000.

This is the first solid development since the public hearing July 20 where an overflow crowd demonstrated their strong opposition to landfills in Huron Township, solid or hazardous waste.

In other developments, a citizen's information group is being formed, under a corporation setup, to contact people and send out flyers.

At the special session of the Township Board, considerable discussion was focused on guarantees that the money garnered from the millage will be earmarked exclusively for the battle against landfills.

One resident said this was needed to protect against the tendency of using money from one fund for the uses in another area.

A request that some kind of wording be present in the resolution and on the millage proposal was made to the board.

"I think," said Supervisor A.J. Haener, "and I'm going to answer for the Board, that we come down to a point where you're just going to have to have faith..."

Trustee John Puskar remarked that it was possible that precise wording could be worked out to give assurances to the community of the intent of any money gathered from the millage.

Trustee Gary Bates, a strong opponent of landfills, spoke of the proposed millage in the context of the upcoming battle in Huron:

"...I think that the attitude that we are taking of this thing... I think this thing is going to be won or lost on the basis of a millage."

"When I say won or lost on a basis of a millage I'm saying when we get the appropriate publicity on that, the Township of Huron, this small community, is facing this onslaught of outside forces..."

"But I think that millage, if it is approached right, I think it should (receive) at least state-wide recognition..."

"And I think there are other steps that can be taken. I think people can go on a bus and they can bury their garbage at the state capitol. If they want to arrest them, arrest them."

"I think that's the fact that this is going to have to take, I really do. I think it's a publicity angle and if it's not won or lost there from the beginning then, okay, later on it will be won or lost according to the rules you're talking about in the court cases and the legal fees, that type of thing."

"But that millage is the key to the thing. If we don't pull it off, the whole thing is going to be a big joke. First of all you don't have the money to fight to begin with."

A resident from the audience then suggested that the wording of the resolution include mention of Public Acts 641 and 64, which provide for landfills. That is, the Township should actually legally confront the state law.

Township Clerk Mary Lou Carey commented on this idea:

"That's the best idea that anybody's come up with yet... is to challenge the validity of those Acts in the courts... FOR the protection of the public and the safety and the welfare," Carey added.

The Board did, by a vote of 6-0.

Oakley seeks 4th term

Mayor files his petition

"I feel that I have been good for this city, and this administration has been able to provide an honest and sincere government for all of the people."

"And, if re-elected, I will continue to do so."

With those words Mayor William Oakley launched his bid for an unprecedented fourth term. The 53-year-old Romulus-raised businessman said that there is a lot of unfinished work ahead and he is ready for the challenge.

Oakley is being challenged for the city's top elected position by Beverly McAnally, who is presently serving her second term as city treasurer.

Since no other challengers filed before yesterday's deadline, the two candidates will by-pass a primary and fight it out in the General Election scheduled for November.

Oakley views his administration's accomplishment to lead despite severe economic pressures and one of the worst economic de-pressions in the history of the nation as a major feat.

"In fact, we have expanded the tax base and we also have purchased the best equipment possible for the jobs we are doing," Oakley adds.

He views the shaky economic situation as a pitfall for any and all who covet the office. Oakley would like to see a convention center built in Romulus, a key to opening doors for local business and trade, he believes.

Asked whether the sewer debt retirement controversy would hurt his chances for re-election, Mayor Oakley replied: "It is my problem because I happen to be here at this time."

"However, the problem is an accumulative one which has piled up over a period of 20 years. And I believe that the council and the administration will be able to resolve it without any detriment to the citizens of our community," Oakley said.

Construction crews last week began the task of relocating the sanitary sewer across the Lower Rouge River on Wayne Road, the first step in a process that will result in the replacement of the bridge.

Detour Construction project closes Wayne Road

An estimated $850,000 street and bridge improvement project will close Wayne Road to through traffic between Michigan Avenue West and Glenwood until Nov. 15.

The road was closed earlier this week as construction crews began the first phase of the program, which when completed will include replacement of the bridge at the Lower Rouge River; resurfacing and widening of Wayne Road to add a fifth lane for turning; curb repairs and construction of ramps for at intersections for the handicapped; installation of high pressure sodium lighting, and construction of three municipal parking lots.

Local detours will send motorists traveling south on Wayne Road to a route east on Glenwood to Second and south on Second to Michigan Avenue. Those headed north on Wayne will be directed west on Michigan to Elizabeth, north on Elizabeth to Glenwood and east on Glenwood to Wayne Road.

A new traffic signal has been added at Glenwood and Second to assist in the traffic flow. Parking will be prohibited on Ash between Wayne and Second and on Elm between Wayne and Elizabeth since these streets will be used as primary fire routes, public safety officials report.

City Engineer Ralph Magid said that most of the monies for the improvements will come from federal and state funds. The City of Wayne's financial commitment is estimated at $60,000, he said.

Residents and business patrons will have local access in the construction area during the four-month project. Parking on Wayne Road will be banned once the work is completed, Magid noted.

Municipal parking lots are planned in the area near Ash St. east of Wayne Road; west of Elm at Wayne and behind the Reichard Building. Each lot will serve some 30 vehicles.

'Transient' is accused of rape

A 46-year-old former Romulus man, described by police as a "transient", was returned to Romulus to face trial for criminal sexual conduct, first degree.

The defendant, Charles Reszko, was apprehended in Russell, Kansas, and was returned to Romulus by local law enforcement who traveled to bring the accused back.

Reszko first said he would not then apparently, through his attorney, decided to waive extradition. He appeared before 34th District Judge Henry Zaborowski and stood mute when charged.

Judge Zaborowski remanded the defendant to Wayne County Jail where he is being detained without bond.

Reszko will reappear in Judge Zaborowski's courtroom on Aug. 3 for his preliminary

According to Romulus police, Reszko resided in the city briefly, then moved. He presently gives a New Jersey address as his home.

Reszko is accused of sexually assaulting a minor. He was arrested on a warrant issued by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office.

"Our officers traveled to Russell to bring back the defendant," said

Romulus Police Chief Donald Flood. "Reszko first stated he would not waive extradition, then had a change of mind."

Asked if the defendant was married and employed, Chief Flood replied that "Reszko doesn't have many roots in these parts. He's more of a transient. But the charge — Criminal Sexual Conduct, first degree, involved sexual activity with a minor under the age of 13."

Teachers, board ratify contract

The Van Buren School District Board of Education unanimously approved a contract with the area's 295 teachers at a special meeting on July 25.

The contract, which takes effect immediately, was previously ratified by the teacher's union, the Van Buren Education Association. The two sides had reached an agreement after almost four years of negotiation and stalemate.

School Superintendent Dr. Elvin Peets described himself as "very pleased" that a settlement had been reached. The contract covers the years 1979 to 1985, and provides a 3.5 raise for the next two years with a small amount of retroactive pay.

In unrelated actions, the board tabled, for further discussion, a proposal to initiate soccer programs into the school this fall.

Board members also approved a $15,570 bid from the Miesel-Sysco company in Canton to provide food service equipment to be used in portable "satellite" food stations.

The "satellite" stations are part of an effort to alleviate traffic during lunchtime.

Canton may fight appeals court ruling

Canton Township Supervisor James Poole has expressed his intent to urge members of the board of trustees to fight a recent court of appeals ruling allowing more adult foster care homes within township boundaries.

The decision, handed down by the three-judge panel in Lansing this week, rejects Canton officials' claim that 10 foster care facilities in Canton constitute an "excessive concentration" and are in violation of state law. The township position was originally upheld in Wayne County Circuit Court by Judge Victor Baum. His decision was appealed by the State Department of Social Services which subsidizes such homes for groups of up to six emotionally impaired residents.

"I'm very unhappy. This is bad news not only for Canton but for every other community in the state," Poole said. "Do you realize that the Department of Social Services could single out a community now and put as many homes as they want there?" he added.

"I'm going to have to take it to the board — what they decide will be what we do. I'd like to take it to the Supreme Court, but that's how I feel now. I'm sure we're going to put our full support behind Sen. Bill Faust's bill which restricts the number of group homes in any community to a population ratio," the supervisor said.

The basis of the original suit included the 10 adult foster care homes already within Canton and the applications pending for five more. Officials explained that other, larger communities in the area had fewer of the care facilities than their community.

The appeals court judges, however, decided that the 15 homes would constitute only .09 percent of all housing in the township and that the residents would constitute only .19 percent of the local population.

The decision further noted that the township did not show that the facilities would, by virtue of their allegedly exorbitant number, overburden the community's resources or cause undue harm to its population.

The decision by the judicial panel was unanimous.

Homeless?

Youth For Understanding, the international student exchange program that began in Ann Arbor and now is based in Washington, D.C., is seeking host homes for students who will be arriving in August to begin 1983-84 high school studies in this country.

International students participate in six-month or full year programs while learning first-hand what American family life is all about.

Volunteer host families provide room and board to their student, offering the same guidance and love they give their own children. Clothing, spending money, insurance, and other personal expenses are provided

Family sought for exchange student

by the student's natural family and program fees. While the student attends school, host families are eligible for a $50 monthly tax deduction.

International students are required to have conversational ability in English, and are expected to participate as a family member, not as a guest.

Curtis Meeder is the area representative for Youth For Understanding covering the Wayne-Westland, Cherry Hill, and Inkster school districts. He is seeking to place students six weeks in advance of their arrival so that a selected host family can correspond with its student before the student departs from his or her home country.

A home is presently being sought for a 17-year old girl from Stockholm, Sweden. Her interests include basketball, skiing, jazz dance and classical ballet, swimming, and windsurfing.

Anti-landfill group is formed in Huron

Papers have been filed for incorporation of a citizen's group whose purpose is to fight landfills in Huron Township.

The group, The Huron Valley Citizen's Association, had its organizational meeting last Thursday in Waltz.

Its purpose will be to inform the public regarding the fight against landfills, through petitions and flyers.

Elected officers of the group were:

- President — Fred Abar
  - Vice President — Janet Kidd
  - Secretary — Vicki Lyons
  - Treasurer — Lee Stewart
  - Trustees: Jay Dorenbecker, Phillip Kasperek, and Nora Adkins.
- The group has invited as its first speaker, Mindey Koch of the Services Unit of the Hazardous Waste Division of the Department of Natural Resources.
- She will speak on Aug. 2 in the lecture hall of Huron High School, at 7 p.m.

25 seek municipal offices

Another candidate for Treasurer is Rita McLenon, an employee of the city for 18 years. She has served as Deputy Treasurer for several years under Helen Gallien and is presently working as a Rehabilitation Specialist in the Community Development Department.

Jerry Canejo, who served two terms on City Council before being defeated in 1981, is a third candidate for the Treasurer's post.

The fourth candidate for that post is Ling Coleman who served one term on City Council in the early 70s.

Raymond Cantrell, the current City Clerk, is the incumbent for that office, running for his second term. Cantrell was the Purchasing Director for the City of Romulus for six years prior to being elected.

His opponent is Linda Choate, who was Deputy City Clerk prior to 1981 under Leonard J. Folmar, the City Clerk who was the mayoral candidate in 1981 and defeated by Oakley.

Choate ran for the office of Clerk in 1981 against Cantrell and was defeated.

Here is a rundown of incumbent candidates for City Council:

• Mary Ann Banks (mayor pro tem - highest vote-getter for city council in last election) Seeking her fourth consecutive term.

• Fred "Junior" Block - member of Council for 13 years, since Romulus became a City.

• Barry Baumann - seeking second consecutive term

• Pete Bergeron - seeking second consecutive term

• Alan Lambert - seeking second consecutive term

• Jimmy Raspberry - member of Council 11 years

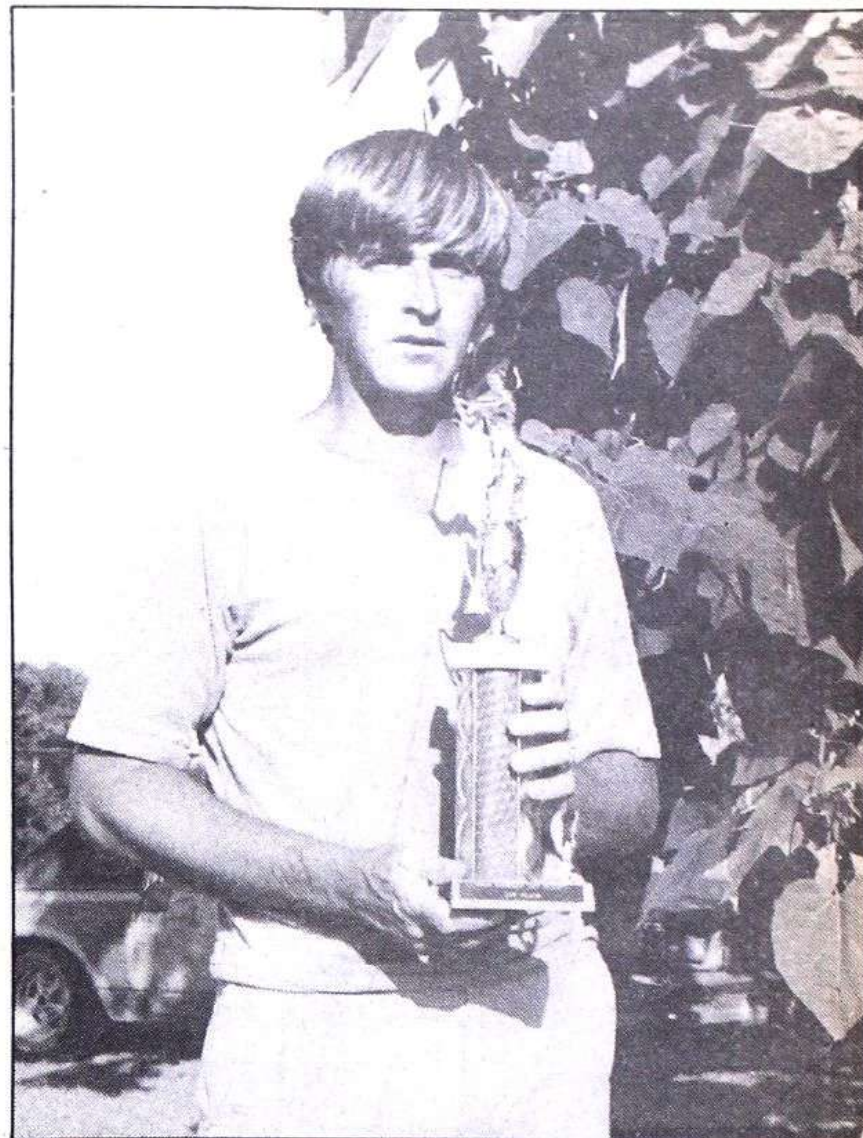

Of the non-incumbent candidates, for City Council two, Theodore Jacques and Roger Cadaret, ran unsuccessfully for the position of State Representative in the 37th District against Rep. Edward Mahalak.

Richard Yeramian and Ellis Pennington, both seeking council positions, served previously on the Council: Yeramian served in 1979-81 and Pennington served from 1970 through 1973.

Of the candidates for Council, three are Wayne County Deputies: John Lewis, Richard Yeramian, and William Wadsworth.

Other candidates for the council positions are Justin Genson Sr., Donald F. Kehn, Kathy McCullum, Fred Williams, and Edward Thomas.

Romulus has a population of 24,875 according to the 1982 census. It has 12,788 registered voters as of March, 1983.

City champ

In a field of over 100 amateur golfers, Romulus' John Sample (above) fashioned rounds of 76 and 80 for a 156 grand total to capture the Romulus city golf championship held over the weekend under near perfect golfing conditions at Fellows Creek in Canton Township. However, Samples' score was 15 strokes off that of medalist, Kevin Ryan's pace who emerged as the Associated Newspapers' champion. More details on Sports Pages

ACTION taken

AAA begins assault on auto thefts

Car thieves may find the going a bit rougher as the result of new ACTION being taken by the Automobile Club of Michigan through its branch offices.

ACTION, the acronym for Arrest Car Thieves In Our Neighborhoods, is a four-pronged assault to stem the rising tide of auto thefts in the state, which got underway at AAA offices throughout the state.

According to Tyrone White, sales manager at AAA's Wayne-Westland branch, stolen car insurance claims for the state's largest auto insurer last year skyrocketed 50 percent over those reported in 1981, some 14,289 vehicles lost to thieves.

"The profitability of chop shops is a major reason for the alarming increase in vehicle theft," White said in introducing the new program to law enforcement officials from Inkster, Garden City, Wayne and Westland last week. "We are enlisting our more than 1.2 million members, along with prosecutors, police agencies and the public at-large to work together to combat what has become a $220 million annual loss for Michigan motorists."

A reward of up to $10,000 will be given for information leading to the arrest and conviction of chop shop operators or organized car theft ring members. An initial $1,000 will be granted upon prosecution with the remainder of the reward given upon conviction.

The etching, being done at AAA's branch offices, including the Wayne-Westland branch, located at 434 S. Wayne Road, Westland, involves the cutting of the series of letters and numbers that make up the vehicles' VIN on the windshield,

"Society already has too many bills to pay, and it certainly should not have to continue to put out millions of dollars each year to cover the increasing costs of auto thefts."

crease in vehicle theft," White said in introducing the new program to law enforcement officials from Inkster, Garden City, Wayne and Westland last week. "We are enlisting our more than 1.2 million members, along with prosecutors, police agencies and the public at-large to work together to combat what has become a $220 million annual loss for Michigan motorists."

ACTION involves the set up of a state-wide toll free telephone line for tipsters, who have made police reports on car thieves, theft rings and chop shops and who can qualify for rewards from $1,000 to up to $10,000.

The Auto Club also will be providing a free service to its members by etching the Vehicle Identification Number (VIN) on windows of the vehicle, glass which could be sold off by thieves who dismantle the vehicles and sell off the pieces.

AAA also will be encouraging motorists to engrave the VIN on saleable metal parts, such as the doors and trunk lids, of their vehicles to serve as a further deterrent.

"With these steps and two anti-theft bills introduced in the Michigan Senate this spring, the lives of those who steal cars for fun or profit could become more difficult," White said. "The cooperation the law enforcement community has promised is vital to the success of this campaign to reverse the trend in auto theft and its tremendous cost in dollars and inconvenience."

The state-wide ACTION hotline, 1-800-AAA-LOSS (222-5677) will accept information at any time from anyone wishing to qualify for the reward. White, however, stressed that the tipster must have filed rear window and door windows with hydrochloric acid.

The etching will be done at AAA claim centers from noon to 5 p.m. weekdays and from noon to 5 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays at its branch offices. As a service to non-members, the free etching will be offered from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Aug. 20.

The etching, however, will only be available to members now through Sept. 20.

The fourth part of AAA's ACTION is a pre-insurance inspection of higher value vehicles and a requirement that salvage yards provide the Auto Club with VIN of all major replacement parts to be used in the repair of members' vehicles.

The pre-insurance inspection began Aug. 1 and is being done to insure that the vehicle is in the hands of its rightful owner and process the correct VIN, White explained.

The new procedure will salvage yards, a step designed to curtail the trafficking of stolen parts, according to White, will be implemented at a later date.

AAA also will supply free material to local crime prevention units and service clubs interested in conducting etching campaigns. As an added deterrent to thieves and as an alert to police, special stickers will be put on windows of the vehicles warning that identification measures have been taken.

"Society already has too many bills to pay, and it certainly should not have to continue to put out millions of dollars each year to cover the increasing costs of auto thefts," White added.

ACTION received a warm reception from police officials present several of whom had their vehicles etched as rolling examples for residents of their communities.

Oakwood, family clinic may merge

By EVE SILBERMAN
 ANP Staff Writer

An official connected with the Sumpter Health Clinic, also known as MIC-PRESCAD, confirmed there is a "good possibility" the clinic may merge with the Oakwood Hospital Family Practice Clinic just down the road.

"Negotiations are in process for a merger of the two clinics," said Dr. Ann Fridrich, Director of Program Review and Development for MIC-PRESCAD (Mothers, Infants & Children - Pre-Adolescent and School Age Children). "I think there's a good possibility the merger will go through but we don't know for sure right now."

She had reassuring words for worried patients of the Sumpter Clinic, which provides medical treatment to pregnant women and children from low income households.

"We'll still see everyone who needs to be seen at the combined clinic," she said. Fridrich emphasized that patients who can't afford to pay will continue to receive free treatment at the Oakwood facility.

The physician also said that, under the merger, mothers-to-be would be sent to Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn rather than Wayne County General Hospital.

The reason for the proposed move, stated Fridrich, is to create a more "family-oriented" approach.

"At the Sumpter Clinic, we see pregnant women, infants, and young children," she said. "With this new system, we'll treat all family members at one clinic."

If the move goes through, some, but not all, of the Sumpter Clinic staff would be transferred to Oakwood, Fridrich said. The Oakwood Clinic would remain under its present management, she added.

Fridrich said she was unsure when the decision on the change would be reached. "Sometime, within the next few months we should know," she said. "We'll make an announcement."

MIC-PRESCAD clinics are located throughout the state, and funded through state and federal block grants renewed annually, the physician explained. The clinics originated in the 1960's, as a way to ensure good medical treatment for low-income pregnant women, she added.

The Sumpter Clinic is located at 24101 Sumpter Road, less than five miles from the Oakwood Clinic, at 19120 Sumpter.

First flight winner

Charles Anderson got his first taste of City Golf Championship competition over the weekend and came away with the winning trophy in the first flight. Anderson's 164 was three strokes better than runner-up Charles Christopher. The annual tournament is co-sponsored by the Associated Newspapers and the parks and recreation departments of participating communities. See Sports Section for more details.

Involved in hit-and-run

A Westland man, presently on probation in the hit-and-run death of a Canton woman, was arrested July 10 for drunk driving by a Wayne County Sheriff deputy.

William Matney, 25, of Elmo Court was sentenced to 117 days in jail, five years probation and had his drivers license suspended as a result of a traffic accident Dec. 17, 1982 in which Madonna Tharp, 34, of Canton was killed. According to police reports of the incident, Mrs.

Tharp was a passenger in a car driven by her son, Eric, 16. The Tharp vehicle was completing a left turn onto Cherry Hill Road from Sheldon at 5:33 p.m. when a car driven by Matney—operating without headlights—broad-sided the auto. Mrs. Tharp was pronounced dead on arrival at the Oakwood Hospital Canton Center.

He was charged with manslaughter in the incident and remained in police custody until his sentencing date.

Paying off...

Numerous efforts at fund raising paid off last week when Linda Salvador of McDonald's in Canton, right, presented a check for more than $500 to Matthew Yotti and his mother Cindy in memory of his brother, Christopher, who was also a victim of Muscular Dystrophy. Watching the presentation was Jeff Smith. The funds will be used to aid in the research and treatment of the disease. McDonald's has been an avid supporter of the association sponsoring various fund raisers throughout the year to earn donations.

Developer is questioned on landfill sites in township

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

Concern over possible landfills in Huron Township was demonstrated at a public hearing July 20.

One proposed landfill would be a hazardous waste site at Will Carleton and I-275. Application for it, by Environmental Management Systems, Inc., was made recently at the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The other landfill is for solid waste, and it has been in the works for the past 15 months. The site is located at Sibley and I-275, with an alternative site suggested for South Huron and Bell Road.

Much discussion revolved around the proposed solid waste site and the prospects of stopping it. The argument seemed to focus on the force of Public Act 641.

PA 641 was enacted in 1980-81, and it is interpreted as saying in effect that if the DNR and the Wayne County Solid Waste Committee determines that a solid waste landfill is appropriate for a township, then it shall be, and the township's objection is overruled.

In an attempt to explore this matter, questions were posed recently to John Layman, president of Lyon Development Company, Inc., a subsidiary of Browning-Ferris Industries (BFI), developers of the Sibley Road solid waste site.

Hopefully, this discussion will contribute to understanding the Huron Township landfill situation

Q. What is the process that you have been through so far concerning the solid waste site at Sibley and I-275?

A. (Layman) We've been through all the public hearings, all the necessary hydro-geology, and we've put about $300,000 into the Sibley Road site, which environmentally is a good site. We got heavy clay, got low water table, got everything.

About a month ago, Mr. Haener (A.J. Haener, Supervisor) Mary Lou (Carey-Clerk), came to me and asked me if we would consider moving to a different location which would be more acceptable by the Township than where we are because of our location near the cen-

Coming next...

Next week, The Romulus Roman will pose questions to Fred Atchison, a trustee and a member of the Lyon Township Planning Commission; and Bob Secombe, also a trustee, and a member of the Oakland County Solid Waste Planning Committee.

As trustees, both men coped, unsuccessfully, against the expansion of a Lyon Development landfill in Lyon Township. Yet, their efforts were successful in dissuading officials from allowing another 300-acre landfill in the Township.

We will ask them about their experience, and their opinions on the Huron Township landfill situations.

ter of the city (of New Boston) and I said we'll listen to anything that is reasonable because we're here to cooperate with you people, not to cause a hassle.

And they said well we have some other properties in a land bank and we went into all that, would you consider this?

And I said we'll consider it only under one condition. Number One that it could meet all the DNR and environmental standards. Secondly, can we get the land under option so that we can proceed to do some testing on it to see whether it is. And thirdly, would the Township approve a substitute quote landfill for Sibley because we are not going to abandon Sibley until we are absolutely sure that everything is taken care of as far as Township and permits and everything for a substitute site at South Huron.

So, immediately they said they would go to work, you know, see if they could work it through the Township, because they were convinced it was a better site.

We are now convinced that the location, as far as the Township is concerned is better, and it creates no problem for us. It's just a mile or so from the other one and there is really no problem.

We went in and optioned a good portion of that land immediately within a couple days, and went in and bore it and it is equally as good if not better as far as location and hydro-geology than the Sibley Road site, same clay and low-water table and the traffic patterns is quote better ... right on the expressway. So we would see no problem in getting a construction permit for that site based on the environmental tests we made and the water tests and the soil test and everything up to this point.

So after we got our preliminary tests we went ahead and optioned some more land to give us a large enough site — the first land we optioned wouldn't have given us a big enough site to go ahead. So we went ahead and got some more land. Now we have a hundred-and-fifty-acres-plus under option.

So we are not going to drop $300,000 up there and put another $200-$300,000 in at South Huron until the Township, you know, gets (See LANDFILL, Page 7)

Bed check

Kris Gates, 14, son of Merlyn and Joyce Gates, wears his Tiger cap with a smile during a "big" check presentation at Children's Hospital of Michigan. A recent state-wide sale of more than 360,000 Tiger caps at participating McDonald's restaurants raised $181,500 to help fund Ronald McDonald House — a temporary home-away-from-home for families whose children are either hospitalized or receiving treatment for severe illnesses. Kris' parents were staying at the home, located adjacent to the hospital in Detroit, while Kris receives treatment for rejection of a kidney transplant which took place in April. More than 2,000 families have used the Ronald McDonald House since it opened in 1979. The House's executive director, Ann West, accepts the check from Harry Granader, of Birmingham, representing the Michigan McDonald's Owner-Operators' Association. Namesake Ronald McDonald smiles approvingly.

Law proposes moratorium

State Representative Gerald H. Law (R-Plymouth) announced today that he has co-sponsored legislation in the Michigan House of Representatives calling for a one year moratorium on the issuance of all construction permits for solid waste landfills and hazardous waste facilities.

Law pointed out that current laws regulating the construction of such facilities have resulted in several instances of unsafe dumping and faulty construction at landfills and hazardous waste disposal sites.

"There is a definite need for a freeze on the issuance of these permits," Law explained. "The laws need to be changed, the regulations need to be updated, and the state's role as a monitor must be reinforced."

Law added that there are over 900 sites in Michigan where groundwater contamination has been caused by faulty landfills.

There is definitely something wrong with our laws pertaining to these permits," Law concluded.

There is definitely something wrong with our laws pertaining to these permits," Law concluded. "The resolution that I co-sponsored in the House will help prevent mishaps, and will hopefully bring to light the problems caused by previous legislation."

Miller in Inkster mayoral race

Betty G. Miller, former Inkster City Clerk, has declared herself a candidate for the office of Mayor of the City of Inkster.

Mrs. Miller, accompanied by a number of her supporters, filed election petitions for the office of mayor on Monday afternoon.

"When I left my job as City Clerk, was surprised at the number of people urging me to run for mayor," said Mrs. Miller who completed 17 years as city clerk and 24 years of employment with the City of Inkster at the end of May.

Mrs. Miller filed her petitions with Acting City Clerk Ms. Delphine ones, her former employee, and was accompanied by Mrs. Anne Cook, treasurer of Mrs. Miller's campaign committee, "People for Betty G. Miller".

Mrs. Cook's husband, Ed Cook, was also present as were Laura James, Weltha Ferencz, and Marie Burke.

Commenting on her candidacy, Mrs. Miller added: "I am determined to be the mayor of all of the people of this city."

"I have a very broad base of support and we believe with certainty that I'll be elected mayor by a very solid majority. The citizens of Inkster recognize my years of experience ... I've attended over 1000 council meetings about half of which were regular council sessions and that is more than any of the present councilmen have attended," she said.

Councilman Robert W. Cullen of District IV is chairman of Mrs. Miller's campaign committee. Councilman Cullen has declined to bid for re-election.

"Although I was sorry that Bob Cullen will no longer be on council, I am fortunate to have his expert assistance for my campaign," said

Mrs. Miller.

"The people want responsible and responsive leadership and that is what I will bring to the office of mayor," she concluded.

On the 1983 campaign trail

Former city clerk, Betty Miller, will apparently remain in the midst of politics as she announced this week she will seek the city's top elected position, that of mayor. Mrs. Miller (at right) was at City Hall on Monday to file her election petitions with the City Clerk's office so that her name will appear on the ballot. Mrs. Miller was accompanied by supporters Edward Cook (back row, left), the former city treasurer and finance director, Laura James (back row, at right). Also pictured are Weltha Ferencz (front row, left to right), Anne Cook and Marie Burke.

Developer answers question about landfill site

together and decides that they are going to be able to permit us a substitute.

Then we have to go through the process again, the hydro-geology that'll cost us a quarter million dollars. We're willing to do that simply to make a more desirable site for the Township and as far as we're concerned because of traffic and proximity it's a better site.

Let's face it, from a sociological standpoint especially. The hydro-geology are comparable, except that even at this site we have probably a little better site from our standpoint because we don't have two open drains that we have to relocate. At Sibley we do, at South Huron there are none of those. We don't have to do that. So that's good for us.

"We are not a hazardous waste site. We will sign a letter tomorrow with the Township that at no time would we convert this or have any intention of making this anything but a class #2 landfill..."

Second good thing for us is that there is a site drive—we don't have to make entrance and exit. At Sibley Road we would have to put entrance and exit. So from the traffic pattern it is a better site.

Environmentally, it's comparable. So we feel confident that we could get a construction permit from the DNR based on the water table, environment, clay and everything else... very similar, almost identical to Sibley Road.

That's where we stand. Unfortunately, for everybody, the hazardous waste site pops up the day that, you know, we're going to start talking about it.

We are not a hazardous waste site. We will sign a letter tomorrow with the Township that at no time would we convert this or have any intention of making this anything but a class #2 landfill, which means no liquid, no hazardous waste, at any time. We would sign that tomorrow, just as we have an agreement with this Township (Lyon), identically the same way.

So, from that standpoint, I understand from the rumors that I got that somebody raised that I would go get another permit... that is absolutely false, we have no intention and we would sign it tomorrow with anybody. Same with the Huron site as the Sibley site, at no time do we have any intention of making that into a hazardous waste site.

Q. Assume that you went ahead and dropped the Sibley site with the understanding that you would get South Huron site, and you did not get the permit from the Township. Let's say that Huron Township said no you're not going to get a permit. Where would you be?

A. We would just go right back, follow Sibley Road through an opening. We will not drop... we have optioned Sibley Road right through '84.

Q. In other words, you would go back to Sibley and you can go into the Sibley Road site regardless of approval from the Planning, Zoning Board of Appeals, the Township. I'm bringing this up for a reason. The point is, can you proceed...

A... we feel we can, legally... Q... upon what mandate do you feel you can go ahead...

A... under the Act 641. We have our 641 permit.

Q. You have a 641 permit and according to your interpretation, your lawyers and yourself, and your industry, you can go into Sibley and you can proceed with that site, you got the construction permit and in spite of a negative vote, you're telling me, from the Zoning Appeals Board in Huron Township, you can proceed to the finished product. Is that correct?

A. We feel that we legally have a right to proceed at this stage of the game.

Q. Well, I'm not asking whether you feel...

A. No... if it ended up in court we would win in court.

Q. Now, so from that point of view, you're absolutely confident you could develop that Sibley site... you'd win in court, you have 641 behind you...

A. We feel that from our past experience here...

Q... I'm clarifying a point for myself... the point is I have to know precisely where your lawyers and your company stand and your industry stands and how 641 is interpreted.

A. We will not drop our Sibley Road permits or our Sibley Road 641 construction permit until and unless we have two things: number one, a construction permit from the DNR as a substitute site which will take a couple-three months to get it all done with engineering but before we're going to do the engineering we must know from the Township that they are going along with quote, you know, a substitute site at South Huron in place of Sibley or we'll just take Sibley and drop our options at South Huron and keep on going.

Q. Another reason I ask this is the fact that your letter (to the Huron Township Board, July 13) was interpreted as saying that perhaps, by some, the strongest opponents of any dump site, that you were held up or defeated in effect on the Sibley Road site, number one, in other words the seagull matter in Buffalo, N.Y. (where tests are being conducted)... you were defeated and you were saying well we can't win here, we have been going around for a year or a year and a half, and you weren't making any headway and some interpreted that as defeat.

A. Let me tell you why the delay. The delay is this. First of all you have a procedure at the Township, you are required to go through the Zoning Board, going through this, and we fully intend, we always go through that process no matter how long it takes. We just don't come in and bulldoze anybody around. We much prefer that the Township have their series of things so that legally they can say we didn't bypass anybody.

So we have been going through that process and they've been stalling us. We go to this committee... we've had 7 or 8 hearings, and they're still going on.

"We just don't come in and bulldoze anybody around. We much prefer that the township have their series of things so that legally... we didn't bypass anybody."

We're still before the Zoning Board of Appeals.

We feel that as a large company, we have to go through that. That's our obligation to the Township, to follow their procedure.

Also from a legal standpoint it's very smart, to follow all the procedures. Okay? So when we get in court, we have done this and this... according to the book, right by the letter of the law. Now if we have to go to court, we're on very strong ground.

The only problem that came up, and the FAA (Federal Aviation Association) if you'll read the testimony said they have quote no legal claim against us, we are over 10,000 feet which was stipulated.

But, whenever there is a safety hazard, we don't want any problem with safety... do you think we want anything to happen? We feel confident based on our experience, we'll have no problem but that doesn't make any difference.

We are over the 10,000 feet which is the state and federal rule but in order to assure everybody and not have a hassle, we started a program (a seagull test in Buffalo, N.Y.) and we're funding the program for the FAA. We, our company is funding that program. It's going on beautifully... They're expecting to set up their standards in January.

And that's the only reason we signed with the Wayne County Planning Commission, the Federal Aviation Authority, and the State of Michigan, a rider that we would wait quote start constructing until the bird quote standard was set by the FAA.

Q. That was a $250,000 study, right?

A. Yes, that was about what it cost.

Q. What you did is sign an agreement of intent that you would not start any kind of construction at the Sibley Road site until that study on the seagulls in Buffalo, N.Y. was concluded, although you felt confident that because you were beyond the 10,000 feet perimeter that you could proceed, right?

A. Right. Q. So that is the only delay that you have seen in the last year and a half?

A. Other than the routine little stuff that we do.

Q. Let me get back again, when you sent your letter to the Township and you stated the conditions which you would want agreement to rather than abandon your Sibley site, your intent was what?

A. Our intent was we want to cooperate with the Township. And if this was a better site for them and equally as good a site for us, we had no qualms abandoning the old site.

Q. Assume that the Township did not agree with your conditions.

A. We'd go ahead with Sibley, without any question, regardless of whether it would involve opening up or going to lawsuit or anything else.

Q. Assume you didn't want to go ahead with Sibley, for some reason, hypothetical, like something was wrong, could you proceed with the South Huron site and go all the way to fulfillment?

A. Oh sure...

Q... now tell me why. What cards do you have in your hand?

A. All that we have in our hands right now is options on the land. We'd start from scratch just like usual.

Q. But legally...

A... we have nothing legally yet to start us at South Huron Road, we just have the land options.

Q. But you said before, and I know this is not contradictory, that what made you legally able, capable of pursuing right to your conclusion is Public Act 641. Now I'm asking you the same question...

A... and the zoning but we don't have that yet at South Huron. We haven't applied for it.

Q. Well, assume you got no cooperation from the Township on site #2 (South Huron), and you had to drop site #1 (Sibley), do you think you could still put a landfill in there? (at South Huron).

"Our intent was we want to cooperate with the Township. And if this was a better site for them and equally as good a site for us, we had no qualms abandoning the old site."

A. Let's put it this way. We have to start right back with the process so you never know what's going to happen. But regarding zoning, yes, and the environmental studies made so far are good, and from a sociological standpoint... all are acceptable at South Huron for 641.

But you still got to go through the process, which means you got to... it's a year's process...

Q. Now let me ask you, what kind of cooperation did you receive from the Township in the establishment of the first site? What did you get from the Township?

A. From the Township we got initially opposition. And then, my theory is, I always let the Township know first. I don't let it come out in the newspapers... like here we are all of a sudden. We call a meeting with the township prior to ever going ahead with anything and let them know here we are and who we are, we are going to apply for a landfill permit at this location.

We went in two months before we filed (at Sibley) and had a meeting with them and then we filed — we came back and went through all the process.

As far as cooperation is concerned, they have been processing the thing through, there have been no recommendations yes or no at the Township Board as of yet, they're still in the hearing process and we got another one coming up, which is the fifth or sixth hearing, their normal procedure.

So I can't say we've had any problem with the Township. We invited the Township officials to see our landfill, come out and see how we operate, anybody, and there have been several out.

Q. From the Township, have you gotten any kind of permits, any kind of approval?

A. No.

Q. What do you need from the Township in terms of permits?

A. We need a "use permit," a $25 use permit.

Q. How about the Zoning Board of Appeals?

A. Zoning is... we are properly zoned so the Zoning Board of Appeals doesn't come in unless they deny it. We are quote in your Township ordinance, landfills are permitted in this particular zone. So from the Zoning Board of Appeals we aren't appealing anything other than, I guess, a setback, a 1000-foot setback thing which...

Q. You were at a meeting in April at the Zoning Board of Appeals, what was your purpose?

A. Well, it's a procedure, we got to go through the whole thing.

Q. Well, what's the procedure? What would you want from them?

A. Well all we did was explain. In your landfill zoning ordinance there are 25 or 30 things. We took exception to maybe two or three of them and at that Zoning Board of Appeals we ironed out or agreed to or discussed all of them...

I think the only major hangup we had was the 1000-foot setback which is in disagreement with the federal and the state landfill ordinances. The 1000-foot setback puts you back 2000-feet from any thing...

Q. Just for clarification, a 1000-foot setback means that the Zoning Board would insist that you go back 1000 more feet than you are?

A. No, 700 more feet, in each direction... which eliminates practically any landfill from any piece of property.

Q. Now just for clarification purposes again, if at the Zoning Board of Appeals you went through all these things, including this 700 feet, you went back in both directions, and you complied by all those things, would you expect them to then approve...

A. I guess so... I guess they would have to or object to approve... you see, our conformance is with the DNR and the federal regulations, and the Huron Zoning Board of Appeals has their own which is a 1000 feet. The maximum for the federal or state is 300 or 100 — 300 feet from a house and a 100 feet a border. They have a 1000 feet from anything.

Q. Okay, let me ask again. If you complied with everything, let's say DNR and all that, then you went to the Zoning Board of Appeals as you've been doing and you complied with everything there and the Zoning Board of Appeals said no, they did not approve of your landfill...

A... we'd sue them.

Q. You'd sue them, and you'd do this, you're strong card again would be Public Act 641?

A... and the federal regulation...

Q. In other words, you could... get by the Zoning Board of Appeals... for the simple reason that you have the strength of Public Act 641 behind you?

Q. In other words, you could over-ride... get by the Zoning Board of Appeals of Huron Township for the simple reason that you have the strength of Public Act 641 behind you?

A. Including our common sense too, and everything else and every regulation all over the United States...

Q. I want to talk in the area of law. If the Zoning Board of Appeals could stop you, they would.

A. Yes, I know that...

Q. All right. The fact is you're saying that in spite of that you would sue them...

A. We'd have to...

Q. You'd have to, and you have 641 to back you...

A. (Interpolation from Lyon Township trustee) I think what you're saying, you're not going to sue them, what you're going to do is go to court and have them make a decision, because Act 641 says that they can override local ordinances if local ordinances are so restrictive that it's impossible to build a landfill.

Q. And you also have, you're saying, legally, you have the strength of the Huron Township Ordinance which says you can have a landfill if you meet certain requirements.

A. And that's the only one that was a stumbling block... with the 1000 feet (restriction)... State law says 300. They may see other things but (for us) that's the main stumbling block for us...

Canoe tours are slated at Metro

"Exploring a Summer Marsh", canoe tours in the marsh, will be held at the Nature Center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock during three days in August.

Tours are scheduled on Saturday, August 6, Sunday, August 7 and Saturday August 13 at 10 a.m., noon and 2 p.m. each day.

Persons will help paddle the 18-passenger canoe through the cat-tail marshes of the area in search of muskrat homes, dragon flies, marsh wren nests and other features of nature.

There is a charge of $1 per person and advance registration is required.

For information/registration—contact the Nature Center at Oakwoods Metropark—Phone 697-9181, Belleville.

A vehicle entry permit is required (Daily-$2).

our opinions

Show schools you do care

Most voters approach a school millage proposition as they would the bubonic plague. They turn and run. Or they quickly pull the "no" lever and hope that will be the end of it. It doesn't take a lot to understand their reasoning — they just don't want to pay taxes. Any kind.

Even though they know that the mills they surrender to the schools are usually put to good use, and even though they know that most kids do get something positive out of the classroom, voters abhor additional taxes.

The problem is compounded when the voter is out of work. The limited amount of money and funds they get must be used for the family and the home, to pay bills and buy food.

Is it any wonder then, that a miracle is needed in order to get voters to pass a school millage?

And that's what the Van Buren School District is asking on Tuesday. They have a proposal on the ballot that would hike school taxes an additional 6.5 mills. (A mill is $1 for each $1,000 of assessed property value).

The proposal deserves support. We support it. We know that it hurts. But the Van Buren School Board and the school administration have shown fiscal responsibility and have paid dearly for it. They have managed to provide a minimum, without frills education, for the children in the school district.

With the help of booster clubs, there has been a little extra. The precarious path taxpayers and voters are taking is that "the status quo" is adequate. It is not. There is much to restore in the way of programs; and the "new" remains unreachable because of the lack of funds.

The irony of it all is that we all know that the schools do need help.

But, like the plague, voters hope that it's the "next guy" who will catch it. They don't want to pay the bill.

We urge a "yes" vote on Tuesday. Show schools we care.

Silver Anniversary of golf tourney

For twenty-four years, some 100 or more local golfers pay their annual homage and green's fees to a tournament that is sponsored by parks and recreations departments of Canton, Inkster, Wayne, Westland, Garden City and Romulus and the Associated Newspapers.

These amateur golfers did it again last weekend and they appeared at Fellows Creek Golf Course in Canton Township where the elements and the course were merciless on most.

When it was all over, a young man from Inkster, emerged the winner. Kevin Ryan became the 24th City Championship Golf Medalist. He follows in the footsteps of some great local competitors — Al Whited and Tom Piscopink to name just a few.

But, for most, it wasn't the "winning" that they were after. They were out to have fun and enjoy two days of good competition. And thanks to tournament managers — William Hawley and William Whitworth — they did.

We thank all of you, and Mr. Hawley and Mr. Whitworth for doing an exceptional job with the tournament.

Now, we look forward to 1984 and the City Golf Championship's "Silver Anniversary."

We propose to make the "Silver" the biggest and the best. We're turning loose all of the superlatives in order to do so.

We would like to extend an invitation to all of the former champs and players to compete in this one.

We would like to see the cable TV companies in the communities involved: Canton (Omnicom), Wayne (Group W), Inkster (Barden).

Fortunately, we do have the right people in the right places to make the 25th anniversary the "greatest."

And we sincerely want to know what you think.

'Boss Hog' politics in City of Inkster?

The time is upon us to evaluate and determine whether or not our local public elected officials in Inkster have prudently handled their responsibilities, and properly executed the public trust, delegated to them when elected.

The Mayor of Inkster is the elected leader of City Council, with specified, though limited duties and responsibilities, and properly executed the public trust, delegated to them when elected.

The Mayor of Inkster is the elected leader of City Council, with specified, though limited duties and responsibilities. This position does not carry the decision responsibilities that are enjoyed by a mayor in a strong mayor form of government.

The Mayor of Inkster has no veto power, and is primarily a Council-Person at-large. None-the less, the direction, actions, or non-action that characterize our City government, are charged to the Mayor.

Following are some very critical failures attributed to the administration of our current Mayor. These are my opinions:

There is a definite anti-business attitude displayed by the mayor and certain councilmen. This is partly attributed to a condition wherein assistance and consideration are not given existing small businesses unless they are friends of this select group.

Payment in lieu of taxes have not been negotiated to the extent that they would attract businesses.

Nor has the legislated property tax abatement been profitably utilized. The city has not significantly reduced its land holdings, and returned them to tax revenue yielding ownerships which would help the city significantly.

If these possibilities had been conscientiously pursued, perhaps there would have been property tax reductions, of some significance, instead of tax increases for the residential property owners.

Property owners have been victims of the "quick fix" remedy to fiscal irresponsibility (increased taxation) for too long.

At the same time there have been questionable reductions in city services. Local tax control is a must, especially when in our system the county does the evaluation of properties, and continuously increases the value of properties. Additionally, the county continually seeks millage increases as well.

Take a look around at the tall uncut grassy areas throughout the City. There are abandoned, and vacated homes all across the city with knee-high weeds and grass. At least HUD, the real estate firm, or the private owner should be required to comply with existing ordinances. These conditions create a poor impression upon persons driving through Inkster, especially on our primary streets.

On June 15th meter men, employed by the city, were pulling weeds around City Hall, after 5 p.m. These are union personnel with time and a half benefits for time over 40 hours. How, in good faith, can justification for the costly expenditure be established where we have thousands of unemployed adults, heads of households, and youths that want, and need jobs.

Could election year have something to do with this?

Carver Homes is another problem that exists; all due to poor judgment, a faulty sense of values, and ignorance, all resulting in the inability to be sensitive to the health and welfare of every citizen of Inkster.

Citizens of Carver Homes have been neglected, denied, and ignored by the last two administrations of Inkster. Not only should the residents of Carver Homes be upset, but the entire City should be equally upset by the unfilled promises to improve their way of life.

When Mayor William Daniels and company loaned $150,000 to a car company in Inkster, it did so at the expense of other existing needs in the city, which warrant equal treatment. The record will show that he voted against the loan, but that was a political ploy on his part, in this writer's opinion. He did so because of the political pressure that had been brought upon him not to loan the money. He knew that he and others had generated enough votes for approval of the loan, therefore, he could always say, "I didn't vote in favor of the loan."

Remember this is an election year: The commitment of the car company to hire a given number of Inkster residents, if the loan was approved, is a hollow commitment. They could be hired today, and fired tomorrow. Such agreement should have contained a commitment with some degree of permanency contained therein.

I have been advised that, although not legally permitted or authorized by City Charter to do so, the Mayor had reportedly authorized the sweeping of the parking lot at Inkster High School. The mayor also instructed employees to repair two water main breaks at Fellrath Middle School, using the DPW and City employees.

These kinds of authoritative violations place the City in competition with private small businesses, which would have been utilized in this approximate $1000 repair bill for the one job done in March of this year. Bear in mind that the Mayor is an employee of the Inkster School District — he is a teacher at Inkster High and the question of "conflict of interest" is raised.

Additionally, I've been advised by an Inkster Public Schools official that, by policy, the School District has no established dollar limit for purchases that must be let for bidding.

Back to the water main repair.

The question might be raised as to the emergency nature of the water main break, if there was one. Nonetheless, a private firm could have responded as well, and as fast as the City DPW did. It took the DPW several days to complete the March repairs because it could not neglect city needs for the school district's needs.

The rate of Breakings and Enterings has increased tremendously throughout the city. Areas never before experiencing this problem are now plagued by this problem. Too often there have been only two cars on the road to provide the police protection this administration has bragged about.

The plot, they say, thickens

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

On Tuesday, all speculations about "who is running for what office" ended. The processions to the City Clerk's office to file petitions have been completed.

The townships, who sit back in "odd years" with relaxed muscles and smiles, rock in the political estasy. They don't hold elections until the "even years". There are some rare exceptions, of course.

The human political metronome is a fascinating one. Until that final minute ticks away, until all is revealed and speculation is laid to rest, until one really knows "for sure" who is seeking what office, we all play politics.

It is a beautiful game. And it's too bad more of us don't really participate.

There can be a "change of venue", of course. Some now announced candidates may drop out — they have a Friday deadline, I believe. But few seeking key elective offices ever do.

American politics is a wedding between those egotistical enough to believe they can serve better; those impatient, who want change; and those patient, who will work for change. It was put into perpetual motion by dreamers, people who really believed that "all men are created equal" ... and that there can be justice in the true world.

And where is this leading me... probably to the August primaries or the November General Election.

If you think the "battle for Romulus" which will pit incumbent mayor, William Oakley, and city treasurer Beverly McAnally to be another Stalingrad, well, better glance over at Inkster — look for that hotbed of politics to make Mt. Etna's eruption look like an ant hill.

It didn't take more than a month for ex-City Clerk Betty Miller to come out of her retirement, and with political blasts ready, send a volley through the community. She's taking on politically astute, William Daniels, for the mayor's spot. Though it had been rumored that all is not well at City Hall, those rumors apparently have roots.

There are enough disenchanted people in Inkster who, if given direction, may cause a political upheaval in that city.

Commenting on her candidacy, Mrs. Miller is quoted as saying: "I am determined to be the mayor of all of the people of this city."

One could take that to mean that William Daniels isn't?

But, Mrs. Miller also isn't a neophyte in the political arena. She's attended more than 1,000 of those council meetings and knows where all the skeletons are buried.

She radiates confidence and Mayor Daniels definitely has a fight on his political hands.

We hope the combatants keep it clean. I sincerely doubt it because of the deep sores and wounds of past injustices.

Back to Romulus.

Here, at least, the campaign thus far has been low-keyed. The verbal exchanges have been polite — almost too polite — but as the days turn into months we know that the two protagonists won't remain didactic. They've sparred on too many occasions.

Wait until mid-October. That's when summer boils its leaves red.

And, like a proprietary hen, a politician must protect his — or her — territory, or lose it.

More about Family Day

EDITOR — In response to Mr. Tom Welty's letter that appeared in the Associated Newspapers, the information and figures I used in my letter about the losses incurred by holding the 1982 Family Day in Van Buren were provided to the Board of Trustees from the township auditors.

These records, of course, are a matter of public record and may be scrutinized by all.

In a period when all townships and municipalities are urged to take a microscopic look at finances, you can rest be assured that we won't be spending township funds for impractical purposes.

In response to Petitpren

EDITOR — In an article that appeared in the Associated Newspapers on the Task Force organized in Westland, may we add some comments.

The article was good but we would like to respond to the last paragraph in which Mr. Vince Petitpren stated and we quote, "The city council and the mayor have got to work together," said Mr. Vince Petitpren Task Force Chairman.

"I'd like to be proud of Westland again."

Our response to that statement is, "Well, Mr. Petitpren we The Norwayne Residence Association would like to be proud of our section of Westland too. So maybe you will clean up your slums so we can be proud again."

The state's in a tax mess

EDITOR — Michigan's grave economic circumstances are brought on by the fact that the legislature has got to address the problems facing the state.

During the '60s and '70s, auto, steel, tire and chemical companies were at near-fill output. Michigan has failed to attract and keep industry. Reports have stated that 80 percent of all new jobs will be created by small business. During the past year, 300 business left Michigan most notably Clark Equipment Co., Budd Co., Eaton Corporation, and Firestone.

Michigan's economic circumstance are brought on by the high costs in the form of taxes that Michigan's business must pay. These costs are passed along to the buyer, making Michigan's products uncompetitive in price or quality. It is easy to understand why businesses are leaving and new businesses do not consider locating in Michigan.

In 1982, we were told the states temporary income tax increase of 22 percent would solve the states economic woes. During the last election, our now present leaders would use a tax increase only as a last resort. We now know the answer. The state income tax increase is the highest flat rate income in the nation.

After the election we were given the transportation tax-boosting plan to bail out our crumbling transportation system. It raised gasoline taxes 18 percent, license plate fees by 30 percent for cars and 45 percent for commercial vehicles, also in 1984.

Michigan gas tax goes up 3 cents-a-gallon more. At the same time Congress passed a 5-cents a gallon (125 percent) gas tax increase that will produce a bonanza of $378.4 million for Michigan an increase of 100.2 percent over 1982 levels.

Here is what the state estimates Lansing will receive from our tax increases in millions of dollars.

$378 — 5 cents a gallon federal tax.
$114 — 2 cents a gallon state tax.

$64 — Vehicle weights.
$112 — cigarettes.
$623 — unemployment compensation tax.
$2.5 billion over four years.
$1,050 — 38 percent income tax increase. Total $2.341 billion increase!

Last year's general fund budget was $4.6 billion. Michigan residents received its biggest tax increase in history.

Governor Blanchard says: "that this was necessary to improve the quality of life in Michigan." Gary Owen says, "we have the responsibility to vote to pay for basic government services."

The legislature has balanced the budget in the previous four years through property owners and schools. The State Equalization Valuation act doubled property taxes in the past years, driving school districts out of formula. Budget cuts have almost eliminated state aid for public education. During 1979-80 school year state aid was $910 million. During 1981-82 — $580 million. Where has all the lottery monies gone?

When it comes to taxes Mr. Gary Owen, you should not look at other states to justify the legislatures excuse for raising taxes. While the state has an obligation to pay it's bill just like you and I. It is time for the nation's highest paid state legislature to realize who is paying the bills and stop the tax spend fiscal policy.

No state or nation has ever taxed itself back to prosperity. Nor can Michigan.

Child who steals will be nabbed

EDITOR — We came home from our vacation yesterday and came home to a very disturbing sight. Our home had been ransacked by a child or children. We are just about sure it was youths because of the missing items.

Did your child come home recently with some very shiny unmarred 1976 coins? They are far more valuable than the face value because they were proof coins from the Bicentennial Celebration.

The 1922 silver dollar meant so very much to me. My father, now deceased, gave it to me on my 16th birthday, and it was minted the year I was born.

Or was it perhaps many funny 6-sided quarters. They really were not quarters, you know. They were Susan B. Anthony silver dollars, 52 of them to be exact.

Or perhaps it was the pint jar full of change that I had been saving at the end of each day.

We have been forced to put extra security on our home. We already had a burglar alarm system which somehow they bypassed, a security yard light — it must have lighted their way.

My husband's jewelry box was taken and all of my rings and so much more.

Two boys were seen in our yard earlier, so we can be reasonably sure of the identity of the culprits.

I really feel sorry for you. Today you face the knowledge they are doing petty theft — tomorrow, and they grow up all too soon. Will it be prison?

Westland city budget woes

EDITOR — On July 12, three members of the Westland City Council met with the residents of Pointe West Apartments to answer their questions about the proposed closing of Fire Station #4. I was invited to be there and it was wonderful. The people had some very good questions for Mr. Artley, Mr. Wagner, and Mr. Herbert, they were:

- 1.) Who put this budget together?
- 2.) Who placed the amounts for fire and overtime pay?
- 3.) Why did you cut away on our fire service?
- 4.) Did you get a pay raise this year?
- 5.) Do you have other jobs for income other than your council salary?

The people had hard questions for them and they wanted straight answers. So when they tried to, (as one man said) dance around a question and avoid a real answer, it didn't work.

Councilwoman, Nancy Neal also showed up along with fireman, Mark Neal, (no relation), and fireman, Rick Grojek, to better help explain what was happening.

Summer

*The longest day has calmly past
And summer has begun.
The beach of every lake resort
Are playgrounds in the sun.*

*The greenery of the shady trees
Where cool breezes blow,
Is a restful place to picnic
From the heat of summers glow.*

*To lay upon the velvet
Of the new mown grass to tan
Is a pleasing sort of comfort
That most anyone could plan.*

*'Tis a little time afforded Under skies of blue and white,
To take advantage of each day
That's fleeting toward the night.*

reflections

Best diet? Kindness, of course

I just got through throwing all of the diet books I've accumulated into the fire. Including the newest Yoga instruction book. And I have cancelled my membership to that exercise club, because I have found out that all I really need is a Kindness Diet.

At least that's what a Chicago specialist said a few years ago when he proposed a "Be Kind to Fat Folks" week to be observed all year.

The doctor said that fat people should be treated with kindness, because since the appetite control is believed to be located in the hypothalamus and the hypothalamus is the seat of the emotions a person naturally gets fat when someone has been mean to him and triggered his hypothalamus into working overtime.

That really sounded good . . . particularly when one realizes how good it makes a person feel to be able to blame someone else for one's faults. That is why I threw away the diet books. I wouldn't need them anymore. Now, I knew who to blame for me being fat.

In looking back to when I started becoming rounder than I really wanted to be, I realized that the good doctor spoke with authority, because I distinctly remember the day obesity began rearing its ugly head.

That was the day when my ordinary tender loving husband showed the other side of him. He had to catch a plane. And he was packing his own bag so he would be sure to have all of the stuff he would need . . . like under-shorts and a razor. I thought he was doing real well. Until he yelled down the stairs: "Where's my socks?" And I yelled back, "In your top drawer."

"They're not," he shouted. "They are," I most emphatically, but sweetly, shieked.

At that he came clunking down the stairs, carrying the top drawer of his dresser and plunked it down in front of me.

"Where's the socks? I don't see a damned one!"

He was pretty mad. But even so, I think you can understand how I began getting fat.

I was really getting enthused over the doctor and I hoped I could get that husband of mine to read everything the good doctor said. Maybe, then, he would begin to realize it isn't chocolate candy or ice cream that makes me fat, but his constant harping about where his socks are. Maybe, he'd even get into the habit of rinsing his own socks out at night just like we girls do.

So I showed him the article. And I said: "See, it's not my fault I'm fat. It's your fault because you've been mean to me."

After he read it, he looked real thoughtful and when I suggested he start rinsing out his own socks at night he agreed it might be an idea because he really would like to be able to see my eyes again.

Well, he's been washing out his socks. Every night I say to him, "Be sure to wash out your socks tonight."

It rather irritates him, but he does it. And you should see the weight that guy has been putting on.

MONA GRIGG

dren — both students of the mind in different fields. They have seen enough of brain cell damage to know that, though new brain cells are trying to take over for the dead ones, there are limits to what those new cells can do.

There is the chance, they say, that she will live forever in a time warp: That nothing much beyond 1982 will ever be remembered. The ages of friends and relatives will remain what they were circa 1982. Deaths beyond 1982 won't be recorded. She won't remember from one meal to the next what she ate — or even if she ate.

But the supreme cruelty is that she will remember, from time to time, that she is not remembering.

They, of course, are entitled to their opinions. My own admittedly uneducated prognosis is this: There is too much "Sisu" in that seemingly frail, little lady. She will never allow that to happen.

This is not, after all, how she wanted things to be.

When the mind plays tricks

In this particular hospital room the window overlooks the Portage Canal, a man-made river that separates the south end of the Keweenaw Peninsula from the north — making the north end, for all intents and purposes, an island.

On this island, connected to the mainland only by the bridge between the villages of Houghton and Hancock, are my roots, forever bound.

And in this hospital room, high up on the sixth floor, window open to collect the river breezes, lies a tiny, seemingly frail woman-sister to my mother and one of only two remaining members of a once close-knit nuclear family.

She has had pneumonia, a stroke and two seizures. Her heart is wildly arrhythmic. Her lungs gasp, even with the oxygen. It is a miracle she is alive, the doctors say, but her heart, erratic as it is, shows signs of returning to a proper beat. And her lungs will operate again on their own.

The mind is another matter. The stroke and the seizures have done a job on a multitude of brain cells. They are dead and gone.

She has lost a full year of her life — the past year. The year during which her husband died and her daughter remarried and she herself left her neat and clever house intact and unoccupied to go to California to live with her kids.

She doesn't remember the love of her life dying — in October — and each time she is reminded, it is like grinding a hot poker into an open wound. Five, maybe 10 times a day she asks, "Where's Pappa?" and five or ten times a day someone has to break to her the news her brain teases her into thinking she has never heard before. "What happened?" she cries; "Was I there?" and, "How can I live without him?"

But that is not the worst of it. The amnesia, the year lost, can be eased by training the mind to remember the answers to the questions, if not the actual incidents. In time, "Where do I live?" will be replaced by "I live in California" — not because she remembers living in California, but because she remembers, through constant repetition the answer to, "Where do I live?"

No, the worst of it is that the amnesia is on-going. The retention of events appears to be about five minutes at this point. Thus, each time we enter her room, if only having gone as far as the drinking fountain, we are greeted as though we were surprise visitors only just arrived from hundreds of miles away.

So now there is a chart in front of her that she studies feverishly. It gives the answers to the most often asked questions ("Why did I come here? What year is this? Who do I live with? Where's Pappa?") and she tries to memorize the words.

Sometimes, when we grow tired of answering the same questions over and over again, we say, "Number six" or "Number 10" and she laughs.

Once she asked plaintively, "Am I a nice person?" and we howled with laughter, and she said, "Well, it would be terrible to be a cranky old lady and just go on being one because you don't remember being one." — and we howled off of our chairs and onto the floor.

One day, out of the blue, she says, "Am I asking the same questions over and over again?" and everyone is heartened by the observation. Everyone, that is, except her doctor and her chil-

Doctor on the Run

Outdoor jogging precautions

Many runners enjoy true exhilaration of running outside and disdain the thought of an indoor track.

KACZANDER, DPM

It's all right, providing the runner understands the implications of running out-of-doors in all types of weather (e.g., humid, hot, cold, rain, snow) and takes appropriate precautions.

It is especially vital to carry proper identification when running outside. There have been incidents where runners were brought to a hospital emergency room without any identification.

Although medical emergency measures were instituted and procedures performed, vital patient information was not obtainable.

An identification tag should contain your name, age, address, telephone number, any known medical conditions, medications, and allergies.

For hot weather running, your mileage must be increased gradually (10 percent per week) for it may take 10 days to 6 weeks to acclimate the body to the heat. Make sure you schedule your run at times other than peak sunlight. Clothing for summer running should consist of light colored, porous outfits — no plastic sweatsuits. Elastic bands (shorts, socks) should not be too tight. A white hat with a brim or a beak may be useful. For extended runs, a terry cloth hat soaked with water will retain moisture.

During winter running, cold air, like altitude, affects the body's oxygen exchange. You may be short of breath sooner as winter sets in.

But, as weeks go by and you adjust to the difficult conditions, your breathing becomes easier. Regardless of the cold and wind, you can be comfortable running outside if you dress for it.

Wearing thin layers of clothing, including a turtleneck, beneath an outer windbreaker is more effective than wearing heavy or bulky clothing. Gloves and hat sufficient to cover the neck and ears are necessary to prevent frostbite, since nearly half of your heat loss is from your head and neck.

Wool and orlon blend socks insulate the feet even when damp, although it is important to try not to get the feet wet, especially early in your run. Running shoes with studded or waffle soles are best for traction on snow.

The importance of proper hydration during running (in hot and cold weather) cannot be overemphasized. Drink 6-8 ounces of water 15 minutes before training (1 swallow = 1 ounce). If possible, especially in hot weather, drink 6-8 ounces of water every 20 minutes or 2.5 miles during a run. Set your pace 30-60 seconds/mile slower than your usual pace on hot, muggy days. If you are involved with a race, fun run, etc., stop at each aid station (usually positioned every 2 miles) and drink!!

Remember, in the summertime, don't over-indulge in fluids — just enough to keep the mouth moist. Also, a hot day is not the day to try for a personal record.

Art in the Park

Area, local artists to put on a show in Van Buren Park

Local and area artists are invited to take part in Van Buren Township's unique "Art in the Park".

"Art in the Park" will feature the work of local artists and "how to" demonstrations of various art forms such as painting and weaving. The show will be held in Van Buren Park, located on the South Service Drive just before Lakewood Shopping Center.

The date for the show is Sun., Sept. 4.

The sounds of local bands, bingo, games for all ages, beer and food also are on the agenda.

September Days Seniors will be selling home-made desserts.

Linda Sopko, Parks & Recreation's Astrology instructor, will be present to give everyone an idea of what the "stars" hold in their future.

There will be something for every interest. Don't miss this cultural — yet fun-packed day at beautiful Van Buren Park.

For further information, contact the Parks & Recreation Department at 699-2001.

Van Buren Township Parks & Recreation Department is also planning a "Farmer's Market" at Van Buren Park, on the South Service Drive.

The market serves as a vehicle for area residents to purchase farm fresh produce, plants and flowers and handcrafted art items at reasonable prices.

You can stretch your food budget and also delight in the taste of home-grown produce.

The market will open Aug. 4 and will be in operation one day a week, every Saturday from 8 a.m. - 3 p.m.

Local produce growers and artists may call the Parks & Recreation Department at 699-2001 for additional information.

Westland performers appear in stage trilogy

Westland natives Joey L. Golden and Randolph D. Blouse are among the performers involved in WARP, a science fiction trilogy featured at the Attic Theatre in Detroit this summer.

"WARP II: Unleashed! Unchained!" continues the saga of David Carson, a bank teller who discovers his true identity when transported to the fifth dimension. Golden, who is appearing on the Attic stage for the first time, takes on numerous guises in the production, ranging from a humanoid bank guard to a segment of the monstrous Titan Wasp.

The versatile actor has appeared at the Performance Network in "The Motherlode" and "Endgame" and portrayed the title role in "The Good Doctor" at the Black Sheep Repertory Theatre. His stage credits also include work at the Actors' Renaissance Theatre.

Golden earned a bachelor's degree in English language and literature from Eastern Michigan University and has done post-graduate work in theatre and speech.

Blouse, who has conducted the Westland Civic Orchestra and the Concert and Jazz Bands, serves as arranger and performer of the synthesized music in WARP. In addition to his efforts in the Wayne Summer Theatre production of "Oliver," Blouse has been involved in presentations of "Guys and Dolls," "Li'l Abner," "Sugar," "Westside Story" and "Annie Get

Your Gun." A former trumpeter for the Flint, (See STAGE Page B-2)

Joey L. Golden (left) portrays a bank guard in WARP, a science fiction trilogy playing at the Attic Theatre in Detroit. A native of Westland, Golden handles a number of roles in the production, which incorporates exotic costumes and multi-media technology into a stage adaptation of a comic book style. ## Aztec Camera offers no duds

AZTEC CAMERA
"High Land, Hard Rain"
(Warner Bros.)

It's rare to come across a record that can be listened to time and again without ever wishing to skip over at least one song; every album has its driftwood, the schlock cut stuck at the end of the record to add playing time to the finished product.

"High Land, Hard Rain," the debut LP from Britain's Aztec Camera is that exception. Everything on it is very good, if not nearing excellent, without a dud to be found anywhere.

You may have noticed I said "very good," which may not seem like overly extravagant praise to heap on a record, but consider: music critics like myself receive, on the average, from 10 to 20 records a month. At first it seemed great, but after seven years of it even the biggest music lovers become jaded from the large amounts of trash that is put out these days. At best, an exciting new artist has five, maybe six good songs on their LP. Most have one or two. Some have none. This has 10.

Led by guitarist/vocalist Roddy Frame, the four-member band has a bright pop sound laced with acoustic rhythm guitars, not unlike "Ziggy" era Bowie. They are contemporary to become a force to be reckoned with in the music world, with aesthetics to match. A rare combination.

The LP's best, or standout, cuts include what should be a hit single for the band in the US as it has been in other parts of the world, "Oblivious," the chilling "Twilight Zone"-like "We Could Send Letters," and "Pillar to Post," which may be the best song the young Scot writer has yet put to music.

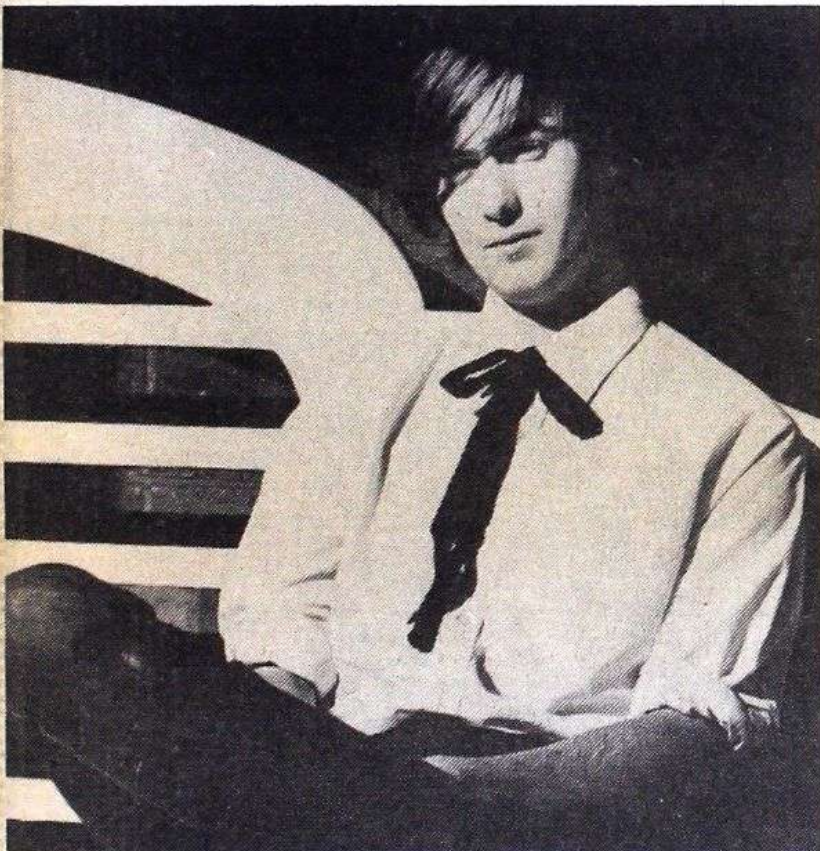

Get in at the ground floor. In a couple of years, you'll be able to say to your friends "Yeah, but I liked them way back when..."

THE BOLLOCK BROTHERS
"Never Mind The Bollocks 1983"
(Charly Import)

Now here's one that's a laugh a minute. The Bollock Brothers, who may or may not count Jimmy Lydon (brother of original Sex Pistol Johnny Lydon, nee Rotten) among its members, and may or may not have been produced by John Lydon.

In case you didn't know, the original "Never Mind The Bollocks" album was the only studio LP put out by the notorious Sex Pistols, and it remains as one of the greatest rock records of all time.

This, then, is a re-recording of the Pistol's LP, only instead of the searing heavy metal guitars we get a slower-tempoed technopop record, not very far from the Human League. It does serve as a good reminder of what great songs are, and while it's good for a few giggles, it's nowhere near the original as music. But, then again, that isn't the intention of the album anyway.

Roddy Frame of Aztec Camera

Westland actors star in prize-winning drama

Clemie Cyburt and Bill Wall, both of Westland, will perform in "The Shadow Box" at 8 p.m. Aug. 5 thru 7 in the Adray Auditorium of the MacKenzie Fine Arts Center on the campus of Henry Ford Community College.

The two-act adult drama, which won the Tony Award in 1977, is a sensitive portrait with touches of humor dealing with three terminally ill people and their loved ones. Cyburt portrays Maggie, the wife of a terminally ill patient. She has a number of credits on the local stage, having performed in several productions in Western Wayne County.

Wall portrays the interviewer who helps the patients and their loved ones get in touch with their innermost feelings. He had a leading role in the College's production of "My Three Angels."

Tickets for this Michael Cristofer play are priced at $3 for adults and $2 for students and senior citizens. Due to the adult subject matter, no one under the age of 14 will be admitted without parent or guardian.

Further information may be obtained by calling 271-2750, ext. 476 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays. The college is located at 5101 Evergreen in Dearborn.

Full Nelson

Belleville group has hold on rock and roll

If perseverance is any gauge of potential success, then Full Nelson Band has a bright future in the competitive world of rock and roll.

For more than three years the group has fought for local recognition, playing a number of area clubs, including Second Chance in Ann Arbor. Today the foursome, all residents of the Belleville/Van Buren area, finds themselves touring the country and waiting for the release of their first record.

"Being together for three years with only one personnel change really says a lot for the band," notes Dwight Baker, 25, who handles vocals and guitar.

"It seems the disappointments and disasters only make us more strong willed," adds Tom Kuhr, 27, whose contributions include vocals, guitar, harmonica and saxophone.

Other band members are drummer Troy Pettit, 21, and Don Beyer, 25, on the bass and vocals.

Described as a no gimmicks rock and roll band, Full Nelson incorporates a wide variety of music into its act, from top-40s to originals to rock classics. According to manager John Townsend, the group tours nearly 50 weeks of the year with frequent stops in Toledo, Ohio, Fort Wayne, Ind. and several spots in Michigan. This week Full Nelson can be seen at Danny's Canadian Club in Windsor.

The band's first record will be released shortly, featuring two originals, "Cigarettes" and "Huff and make things simple, make things fun. It works."

What has been discarded by the band is the original wrestling gear that band members once wore to fit their Full Nelson name. Today's show features neon lighting and plenty of showmanship but the attire is less distinctive than the saying "We want to make it to the top."

For updated information on Full Nelson appearances, contact Townsend at 287-3660 or the band's booking agent at 419-478-2333.

Dr. Wood*Ex-Wayne educator gets promotion

Dr. Barbara Copland Wood, area representative for the King of Prussia Center for Graduate Studies and Continuing Education, has been named coordinator at the University's Returning Adult Student Center. Dr. Wood is a former Wayne resident.

Dr. Wood has worked extensively with adult students and is very much aware of their special needs. Dr. Richard E. Grubb, senior vice president for administration said, "Much of her professional experience has been in the areas of adult education and career planning. We're excited about the Center and eager to have it in full operation."

Establishment of the Returning Adult Student Center was authorized last fall by President Oswald. The Center will coordinate existing services for returning students and offer advice, counseling, information on University policies and other forms of support.

At King of Prussia, Dr. Wood has been responsible for graduate programs and continuing education non-credit courses. She holds a bachelor's degree in English from Western Michigan University; a master's degree in guidance and counseling from the University of Missouri and a doctorate in higher education, specializing in adult education, from Penn State.

A former junior high and high school teacher and counselor, she was an instructor in secondary education at the University of Nebraska and proctor of that university's pre-student teaching program.

She taught in adult education programs in Nebraska and the State College Area School District in Pennsylvania. She also has held internships in continuing education with both Penn State and the State College Area School District. In 1980, she was a contributor to the "Pennsylvania Adult Basic Education Handbook."

Dr. Wood is a member of several professional organizations, many of them in the field of adult education. She also is a member of Phi Delta Kappa and Pi Lambda Theta honorary societies.

The Center will serve all returning students — both men and women, and continuing education and non-degree students as well as degree candidates. It will be located in the Donovan Room of the Hetzel Union Building on campus. Its facilities will include a lounge, conference room and office space. The Center will share its location with Penn State's Women's Studies Program.

Tax credits are offered

Employers still have time to hire economically disadvantaged youth and get a 100 percent tax credit, according to Rep. William R. Keith (D-Garden City).

"The Legislature passed P.A. 85 (of 1983), which allows a 15 percent Single Business state tax credit that piggybacks the federal Targeted Jobs Tax Credit of 85 percent. This amounts to essentially 100 percent cost free labor for employers who hire 16 or 17 year old youths who qualify for the federal credit, between May 1 and September 15 of this year," Keith said.

"I strongly urge any employer who could possibly use extra help this summer, to take advantage of this marvelous opportunity. I cannot imagine a better incentive that benefits both an employer, by acquiring help at zero cost, and provides a desperately needed job to a youth," Keith concluded.

Further information pertaining to the 100 percent wage tax credit can be obtained by contacting the Single Business Tax Division of the Michigan Department of Treasury-Lansing, MI 48909-(517) 373-8030.

Area youths compete in Fitness Meet

Youths from Canton Township, Huron Township, Inkster and Romulus will compete among 46 communities in the finals of the Detroit Metropolitan Youth Fitness Meet.

More than 1,200 boys and girls, ages 9 through 14, are slated for the competition to be held tomorrow at Metro Beach Metropark near Mt. Clemens. The program starts at 9 a.m.

Huron Township is last year's winner of the John J. Considine Award, presented to the one city selected from those competing for sportsmanship, conduct and appearance during the track and field events.

It will be Huron Township's privilege to light the torch at the beginning of the ceremony.

Performing this honor will be Barbara Gamber and John Tackett, chosen because they won and placed respectively in last year's competition.

Inkster was the recipient of the trophy in 1977 and 1979.

This is the 26th year the event has been held. Boys and girls will participate in the 50-yard, 60-yard and 75-yard dash, softball throw, standing broad jump, running broad jump and running hop, step jump, shuttle relay and chinning.

Youngsters compete in the following classifications: Class A — ages 13 and 14; Class B — ages 11 and 12; and Class C — ages 9 and 10. All competitions are for boys and girls.

More than 100 trophies will be presented.

Sue Smith, Larry Nutson wed

Newlyweds honeymoon in Europe after vows at St. Thomas Church

The newly wed L. Lawrence Nutsons Jr. winged their way to Central Europe following their spring wedding at St. Thomas the Apostle Catholic Church in Ann Arbor. After a week in Germany, Switzerland and Austria, they flew to the Club Mediteranee on the Greek Isle of Corfu for another week, then took up residence on Greenhills Drive, Ann Arbor.

The bride, the former Susan Camille Smith of Ann Arbor, is the daughter of Postmaster and Mrs. Bert G. Smith of Tecumseh, formerly of Belleville. Mr. and Mrs. L. Lawrence Nutson Sr. of Yonkers, N. Y., are parents of the bridegroom.

The eleven o'clock nuptial mass on May 21 was celebrated by The Rev. Louis Martin. Some 185 relatives and friends attended including the bridegroom's two nieces, Keri Nutson of Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., and Jennifer Plick of Mohican Lake, N. Y., who presented the offertory gifts.

For the double ring rite, the altar was flanked by two arrangements of white and pink daisies, pink carnations and stock backed by palm leaves, the aisle pews being marked by white satin bows embellished with sprays of baby's breath and fern.

The church organist, Nancy Nowak, played "Sleeper's Awake" by Bach and "Horn Pipe from Handel's Suite for Water Music" as the processional and recessional, respectively. She also accompanied soloist, Tom Laine of Ann Arbor, who sang "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus" during the ceremony.

Escorted to the sanctuary by her father, the bride appeared in a Bianchi gown of white silk organza. The A-line skirt, frosted with satin-embroidered lilies of the valley, swept into a cathedral train edged with embroidered scallops. The dropped V-neckline on the little fitted bodice, fashioned of softly-pleated organza, was accented with sculptured rose appliques and outlined with hand-clipped leaves.

A crescent of white silk roses, pale pink lilies, seed pearls and tendrils of lilies of the valley secured her two-tiered veil of silk illusion which drifted to cathedral length.

Completing her bridal finery was a cascade of gardenias, stephanotis, pale pink alstroemeria, darker pink leptos and spider plant greenery. As "something old", she wore an opal ring which had belonged to her maternal grandmother.

The bride asked her girlhood friend, Roxanne Morris Dildine of Brighton, to be honor attendant and her sisters, Luanne Smith Schonfeld of Glenview, Ill. and Carol Ann Smith of Park Ridge, Ill. to be bridesmaids. Identically dressed, the trio's tea-length gowns of pink silk taffeta were designed with slim skirts, sashed at the waist. Triple ruffles at the shoulder formed square necklines for the ceremony and were later lowered to reveal spaghetti-strap bodices. They wore pale pink hose and grey shoes and carried cascade bouquets of pink and white daisy mums, mini pink carnations, purple statice, pink tulips, deep pink leptos and trailing spider plant greenery.

Best man was Dave Kimball of Ypsilanti and groomsmen were Jeff Nutson of Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., brother of the bridegroom, and Pete Schonfeld of Glenview, Ill., brother-in-law of the bride.

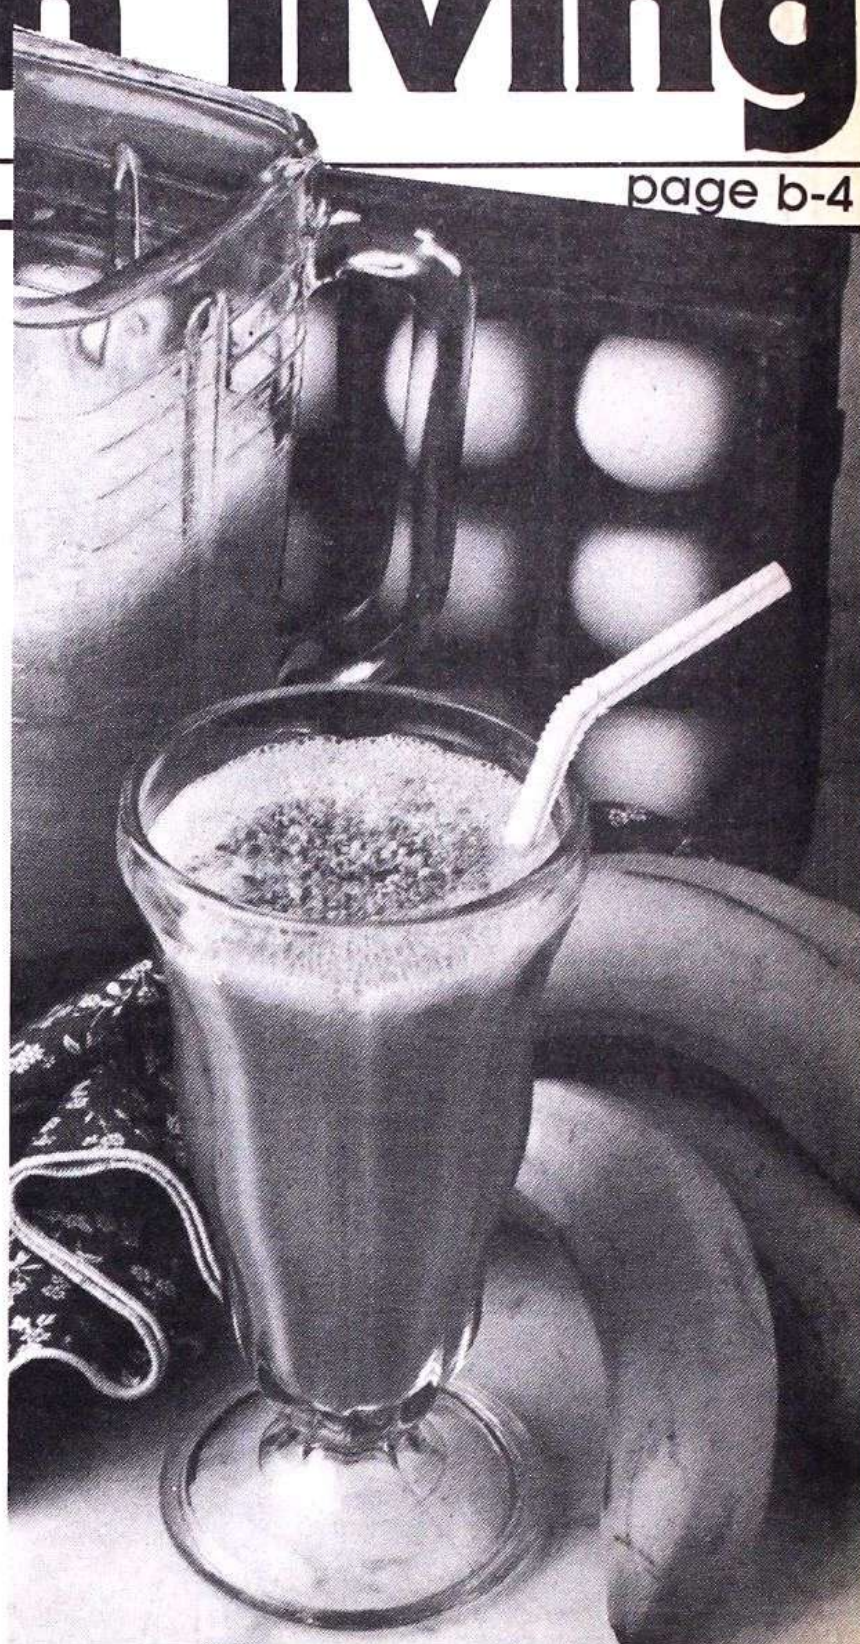

In the receiving line, which formed outside the church, the bride's mother greeted guests in a two-piece suit with a champagne-colored taffeta skirt and short jacket of creamy lace over taffeta. For her son's wedding, Mrs. Nutson chose a soft pink shantung suit with a matching blouse. Both were honored with corsages to match their outfits.

The newlyweds and their honor attendants traveled to the wedding reception at Campus Inn in a surrey with the fringe on top. Serving as host and hostess at the champagne luncheon-dance were Ed and Mary Anne Hudge of Ann Arbor, the bride's uncle and aunt.

The bride, who earned a Bachelor of Science degree at Western Michigan University, is an attendance control coordinator at Hydra-Matic Division of General Motors at Willow Run. Her husband, who holds degrees from New York State University and the New York Institute of Technology, is technical marketing manager for Volkswagon of America in Troy.

The rehearsal dinner for 20 was hosted by the bridegroom at Delphine's in the Sheraton Motor Inn of Ann Arbor.

Pre-nuptial festivities included a kitchen shower given by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Leonard Burrell of Willis; a couple's cocktail party and shower given by Mrs. Jack Paulsen of Ypsilanti and Mrs. Clyde Stapleton of Belleville; miscellaneous showers given by another aunt of the bride, Mrs. Edward Hudge of Ann Arbor, and by the matron of honor, Mrs. Dan Dildine of Brighton; and a salad buffet reception given by Gwen Liebler of Ypsilanti.

For your recipe file High energy thick shake

This High Energy Thick Shake is a delicious answer to a new mom's diet blues. It's a snap to prepare and boasts a creamy goodness loaded with key nutrients such as potassium, iron, vitamin A and calcium.

There are many reasons why this high energy milk shake will benefit you and your baby. For starters, new moms need lots of liquid to carry nutrients to the baby and to continually flush and cleanse the system. And with water retention a common complaint, the potassium rich prune juice in this drink will help to metabolize excess salt in the body.

High Energy Thick Shake is just one quick and easy way to treat yourself — and your baby — to good nutrition. For more time-saving recipes and answers to common pregnancy-related concerns, The California Prune Board is offering a free "New Mom's Survival Guide." To obtain your free copy of this colorful poster write "NEW MOM'S SURVIVAL GUIDE," 55 Union Street, San Francisco, California 94111.

High Energy Thick Shake

1/2 cup prune juice
1/2 cup milk
1 egg
1/2 ripe banana, cut into chunks
1 tablespoon toasted wheat germ
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 ice cubes

In container of electric blender combine all ingredients except ice cubes. Blend until smooth. Add ice cubes. Blend until smooth. This recipe has been tested by a consumer test panelist.

Quotes worth quoting . . .
"Stubbornness is the energy of fools."
Old German proverb.

4-H Fair just 'round the corner

The summer means a fair and the 37th annual Wayne County Fair is coming to Belleville Aug. 8-13.

Among the exhibits are clowns, horses, sheep, pigs, goats and antique tractors. What fair would be complete without games and rides?

For the young, Thursday, Aug. 11, is Children's Day. The youngsters can "Talk to the Animals," eat watermelon in a contest or see 4-Hers with special talents. There is even an All-Animal costume contest.

The owners dress up their goats, sheep, cattle, pigs and dogs to compete for the best costume.

For the consumer, Thursday evening is also the 4-H Livestock Auction. Buyers have their choice of buying 4-H raised rabbit, poultry, and goats, besides pigs, sheep, and beef. Businesses and people can share the purchase plus using a portion of the cost as a tax deduction. 4-H and F.F.A. will arrange and handle the slaughtering and the processing (including transporting), although the buyer pays the fee for processing and slaughtering.

The fair isn't just for the children or the consumer. All week long, the animals will be shown, starting with the dogs on Monday, Aug. 8, and ending with a rabbit and horse show on Saturday, Aug. 13. An antique tractor pull is Wednesday, as well as other tractor, pony, and truck pulls through the week.

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

So you're stuck at a cocktail party or class reunion or office shindig with someone (or a couple someones) you don't know... the person you did know suddenly moved on and there you are, Tootsie! What to talk about — after the weather has had it, that is?

For openers, you can always ask, "Are you a native of this area?" That should be good for a one-syllable reply unless you pursue the query with "How long have you known Scott and Zelda? Where did you graduate? Or, possibly, "When did you come into the firm?"

Not your line of conversation? Okay, then, here's a sure-fire ice breaker — "What do you know about the restaurants around here?" From there you can branch out to "Who has the best steak? What about fresh fish and seafood? I'm crazy about linguine, where can I find a really good Italian place?"

After you've sounded out and put your equally-distraught party-mate at ease, you can then use him/her as your sounding board as you sally forth on the good or bad restaurants of your experience.

It really never fails and rarely will you encounter someone who never eats out. If you do — wow! — can you give him/her an earfull.

Even with folks you know well, it's an interesting topic. Think of all the different foods you can expound on; the different types of eateries; waiters versus waitresses (do you dislike the term "waitperson" as much as I?); the classiest place you've ever been to, the dumpiest, the most fun, most unusual decor, strangest, etc. And the beat goes on...

Recently we had a free evening, were lucky enough to get a last minute reservation (the place is always loaded) and took ourselves to my favorite within-reach eating spot, the Brandywine Pub in Jackson.

Why do I like it? And why do I always consider it a real treat to dine there? The food selection and quality are, of course, number-one-reason on the totem pole. The menu not only has a fine variety of everyone's favorites (a place just has to have steaks and prime rib) but always features "specials of the day" which aren't run-of-the-mill listings: fresh fish in triplicate (last time it was scrod, lemon sole and Pacific salmon) and such extravagances (but not in price) as roast duckling and Veal Brandywine.

Not being big-for-beef and in lieu of the fisherman line, I've loved the roast pork and dressing in the fall, the stuffed pork chops and last time shared BG's wonderful grilled boneless chops while he ate half my delicately coated shrimp — "the" best!

Ted Velderman, the Brandywine's Kitchen Supervisor, told me they even create such simple down-home items as meat loaf and Swiss steak during the week, catering to those who are almost nightly patrons. They're open to suggestions and have even produced some of their "regulars" favorites which were requested in advance.

Then there are the salads and choice of dressings; where else can you be served a Caesar salad (a huge one) without paying ala carte prices? And the vegetables — ah, the vegetables — out-of-the-garden and seasonal with nary a canned pea or green bean in sight! White cabbage was my most recent choice while BG opted for a baked potato — it's either-or in that category.

Nowhere else have I seen, drooled over and pigged out on blueberry muffins the size and texture of those ala Brandywine! There are always refills on request, too, but one big fat dinner roll and one muffin just had to suffice!

The appetizers are marvelous although we don't usually go that route unless we're with a gang and there's going to be a "cocktail hour" before getting down to the nitty-gritty. The fresh fruit platter and veggie plate, both with dips, are terrific as are the soups and desserts (I'm still waiting for bread pudding) and brewed decaffeinated coffee and apricot sours, the likes of which I've had nowhere else. My problem is my capacity (at one sitting) is too small.

What else do I enjoy about the Brandywine? Besides the friendly help, the warm Tiffany-theme decor, the "downstairs room" (very wisely turned from a lounge into a fireside dining area), the very reasonable and affordable prices, the nicely-paced service?

It's the "Lighter Side" of the menu — something I feel every restaurant should offer. I, and many others like me, cannot hack two pork chops or man-sized portions of most entrees and feel guilty (sinful) when leaving half our dinner. Hurray for catering to Rhode Island size appetites as well.

Now — do you care to know what prompted this week's epistle? 'Twas an article in our daily newspaper which bemoaned the practice of captains, hostesses or serving people who describe daily specials not on the menu and without stating prices. "It is confusing enough," the piece reads, "to hear and remember everything so that one can make a choice; not knowing the prices makes the experience that much more harrowing."

We've all been that route and it's mind-boggling trying to recall a roster of five or six items. This happened of late to a group of us at an Ypsilanti eatery and it was embarrassing (and irritating to the waitress) to have us ask to have the list repeated. What a pain!

Why else do I dote on the Brandywine? For the very basic reason that not only does the help inform diners verbally what the day's specialties are — appetizer, soup, vegetable, entree — but then presents a little folded menu card with the aforementioned and the tab for each.

Now — as I started out to say — when you're stuck with someone you don't know and the conversation runs dry, you can say, "I hear there's a terrific place in Jackson, the Brandywine, have you ever been there?"

THE BOTTOM LINE: A lot of people who have nothing wrong with them apparently forget to let their faces know about it.

Claytons announce double engagement

A double engagement, that of their two daughters, Susan Renee and Debra Kay, is being announced by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Clayton of 9667 Van Buren, Belleville.

Susan Renee Clayton and her fiancé, Mark Stephen Kollath, have set their wedding for the spring of 1984.

A 1982 graduate of Belleville High School, Miss Clayton is employed by Elias Brothers Big Boy.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John Scribner of Taylor and James Stephen Kollath of Westland, the prospective bridegroom is a 1980 alumnus of John F. Kennedy High School. A senior at Eastern Michigan University, he, too is employed at Big Boy.

Debra Kay Clayton is engaged to Gary M. Miller, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester S. Miller of 27119 Staley, Taylor. Their altar date is planned for the spring of 1985.

An employee of K-Mart in the Lakewood Plaza, the bride-elect is a 1981 graduate of Huron High School.

Her fiancé, who is serving with the U.S. Air Force, graduated in 1981 from Truman High School in Taylor.

High school junior awarded trip abroad

Maria Duperron, the daughter of Larry and Carolyn (Fawl) Duperron of Pittsford, N. Y. and the granddaughter of Mrs. Viola Fawl Kornowski of Belleville, was recently awarded a 4-week, all-expense paid study-trip to the Federal Republic of Germany.

She was one of over 16,000 students who competed for the trip by participating in a nation-wide German testing program administered by the American Association of Teachers of German. Sixty-nine students were eventually chosen to receive the prestigious prize. The study-trip awards have been made possible annually for over a decade by a grant from the Federal Republic of Germany through its Embassy in Washington, D.C.

A junior at Sutherland High School in Pittsford, Maria and the other trip winners left New York City June 27 and were to return July 25. While abroad the participants lived with families in the Nuremberg area, attended classes at a German secondary school and took part in excursions of cultural and historical interest. A highlight of the program was a 4-day trip to West Berlin with tours of both the East and West sectors scheduled.

An honor student at her school, Maria is active in the Math League and the Model United Nations Club. Within the past year she has participated in U.N. conferences at Harvard and Yale Universities and Nazareth College of Rochester and has been a member of three award-winning delegations from the club. As a sophomore, she was a finalist in the National Chemistry Examination and was awarded a Certificate of Honor by the New York State Social Studies Council. Miss Elaine Lauffer is her German teacher.

Diesel Allison is revving up its engines again

Output has doubled as economic recovery gets underway

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

Diesel-Allison in Romulus, which hit bottom last November, is on the rebound.

Employment figures in July show 1300 hourly workers, up from 950 when the plant hit its low.

Still, 450 workers are on layoff, as compared to 850 at the end of last year.

"We see our current volume staying level over the next couple months," said Ron Dostal, plant manager of the manufacturing operations for Romulus.

Late this year or early into next year, we anticipate a further growth," he added.

Dostal said that the plant is producing about 110 per day of the 8.2 litre diesel engines, used for medium duty trucks such as beverage haulers and buses.

This is double the output of last November.

The Detroit Diesel-Allison plant, division of General Motors, is located at Ecorse and Wayne Roads. It was built in 1976 with the assistance of a 50% tax abatement granted by the City Council under a state act to provide inducement to industry to remain in the state. A second part of the facility was built in 1980.

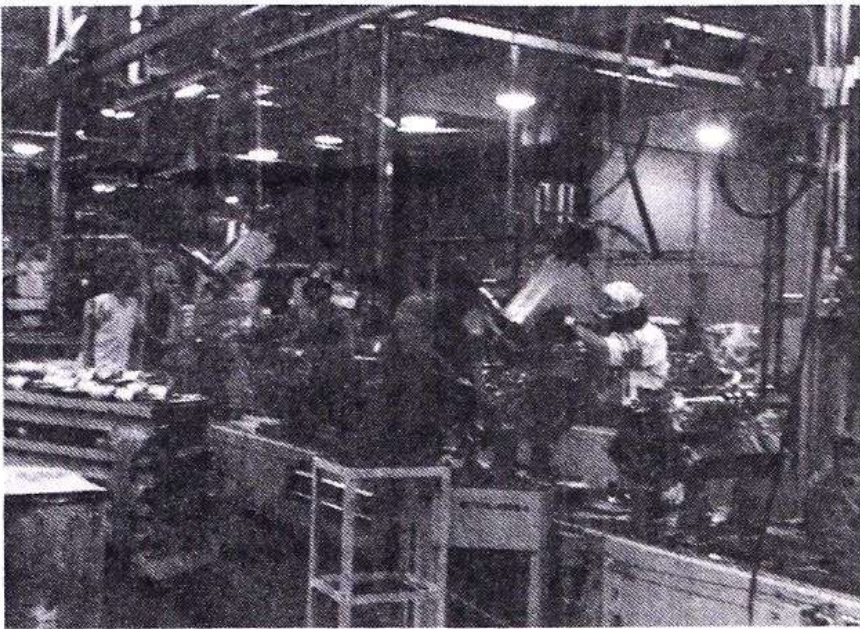

On the complex there are three facilities: manufacturing, engineering, and a parts distribution center.

It began production of the 8.2 litre diesel engine in 1980, accounting for half of the plant's production, and expanding the operation of the plant to double its size. The plant has the potential capacity of 75,000 engine units per year.

About 20,000 units are currently being produced.

Dostal explained that the plant is not anywhere near the 75,000 capacity in part because of the recession and in part because of the price of fuel.

The 8.2 litre diesel is in essence a V-8 engine. It is a very fuel-efficient engine. Roughly speaking, the diesel will almost double the efficiency in fuel over the gasoline engine, Dostal said.

Workers assemble the 8.2 litre diesel engine

It is also known for its durability. Dostal noted that recently his technicians analyzed one of its diesel engines which had gone 310,000 miles. It still had many of the parts which met brand new specifications.

Will it add value to your home?

Get advice before remodeling

Improvement in existing home sales after a three-year slump is bringing more sellers back into the market, according to members of Metro MLS, multi-listing arm of the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors. They reported a 19.3 percent increase in listings in the first six months of 1983 compared to a year earlier.

Some sellers are finding that improvements made to the home in expectation of a restored market are offering added value now and encouraging more buyer interest. Others who made less judicious improvement decisions are finding the opposite is true.

"Many homeowners apparently don't recognize that Realtors are ready to offer counsel in such matters before projects are undertaken," said Thomas A. Duke, Jr., Metro MLS president. "They remain the best source of information on neighborhood growth patterns, current housing trends and what is required to keep a home saleable."

He said Realtors know what competing homes on the market in the same general price range have to offer and can advise future sellers on how far they should go to keep pace.

"The two main concerns when considering remodeling or repairs are the return you will get on investment at time of sale and if the changes will work to move the home off the market faster," he said. "Also to be considered, of course, is the length of time you will remain in the house to enjoy the improvements."

As a general guide, he said modernizing a kitchen or updating a bathroom usually pays off in resale value. The cost of adding a full bath may not, unless the house has several bedrooms and only a single bath.

Basement recreation rooms, a one-time plus, may now detract buyers while a family room off the kitchen has grown in popularity and has broad appeal. The demand for central air conditioning has grown, but window and wall units seldom add to resale value.

Outdoors, a patio may help sell the home, but returns less than half its cost. A standard driveway is well worth maintaining. An elaborate U-shaped drive, which adds to maintenance trouble and cost, may turn buyers off unless it's a large home with extensive grounds.

Like interior decorating, landscaping is a matter of personal taste and it is not economically sound to invest in many new plantings as a sales aid. Bedraggled landscaping does harm overall appearance, however, and may hinder a sale unless it is removed or trimmed into shape.

Unless it's required to bring the home up to code and pass inspection, plumbing changes or increasing a home's electrical capacity usually go unnoticed. Aluminum siding, storm windows and cedar shingles, although more visible, also bring little cash return.

"The wise seller tries to place himself in the buyer's position," said Duke. "Then it's easier to decide what low cost improvements can be made to make the home more appealing and which ones will drive up the price and bring buyer resistance. If average homes in the neighborhood are selling at $65,000 and your home is valued at $60,000, you might get most of a $5,000 investment back if it's made for the right improvements. But, if contemplated changes would cost $15,000, you would do much better to attempt to sell the home pretty much as is at a lower than average price."

Romulus youths participate in 4-H Fair

Animal project honors are their goal

Three area residents are participating in the 4-H sponsored animal program.

Jim Van Assche, 15, and Jay Williams of Romulus are both showing sponsored swine projects. Tara Keith, 14, of New Boston is showing a sponsored beef steer.

Van Assche is being sponsored by Van Assche Brothers Construction of Romulus. Bobby Williams of Romulus is sponsoring Williams' pig. Keith's steer, "Pierre", is sponsored by Ferdinand Giese of New Boston.

A sponsor is someone who helps a 4-H member purchasing the animal. The 4-Her raises the animal and sells it at the Wayne County Fair Livestock Auction, August 11 in Belleville. The sponsor and the 4-Her sign an agreement stating that the 4-Her will pay back the initial loan to the sponsor after the auction.

Van Assche has been in 4-H for one year. He is a member of the High Flyers 4-H Club. This fall, Van Assche will be entering the 10th grade at Romulus High School.

Williams is also a member of the High Flyers 4-H Club. He has been in 4-H for one year. He will be entering the ninth grade at Romulus High School this fall.

Keith has been a member of the Branding Irons 4-H Club for seven years. This is her first year with the beef project. "Pierre" is an Angus, Hereford, and Simmental mix.

Armed Forces

Sgt. Gary T. Smith, son of Ralph and Kathleen Smith of 34524 Julie Drive, Romulus, has participated in Global Shield 83, an exercise involving U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps units, and elements of the Canadian forces.

The exercise, coordinated by the Air Force Strategic Air Command

(SAC), was designed to enhance readiness and the ability of SAC to carry out orders should deterrence fail.

Smith is a weapons specialist with the 321st Strategic Missile Wing at Grand Forks Air Force Base, N.D.

His wife, Peggy, is the daughter of Arnold W. and Bonnie I. Stofferahn of Rural Route 2, McGregor, Minn.

The sergeant is a 1976 graduate of Bay City Central High School.

Airman Keith A. Boc, son of Gerald H. and Grace A. Boc of 38315 Walnut Drive, Romulus, has completed Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

The airman, who is remaining at Lackland for specialized training in the security police field, studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Completion of this training earned the individual credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

He is a 1982 graduate of Romulus High School.

Pvt. Troy D. Gray, son of Shirley J. Gray of 35276 Beverly, Romulus, has completed the basic field artillery cannoner course under the one station unit training (OSUT) program at Fort Sill, Okla.

During the course, students were taught the duties of a howitzer or gun section crewman. They also received instruction in communications, maintenance and the handling of ammunition and explosives.

OSUT is a program that combines basic training with advanced individual training.

He is a 1982 graduate of Romulus High School.

Steven D. Gillum, son of Thomas and Loretta Gillum, of 20680 Merri-man, Romulus, has been awarded the United States Air Force Good Conduct Medal after three years of service.

Airman Gillum is an avionics instrument technician with the 325th Aircraft Generation Squadron at Tyndall Air Force Base, Florida.

A grand feast at a grand game

Belleville's Diana and Jeff Spicer traveled to Denver to take in the Michigan Panthers' championship game and didn't come away disappointed. The Panthers captured the inaugural United States Football league World Championship and before the exciting game the Spicers managed to get a taste of the Regency Hotel's cuisine. They enjoyed a pre-game Bar-B-Que cooked by chefs Jesus Perez and Sherwood Lausten. Jeff and Diana say they are avid Panther fans and are looking forward to the 1984 season. Photo by David L. Malhalab.

Here's a 4-H salad luncheon

If you are tired of the same blah lunch hour, fast foods and need a change of pace, break away to 4-H on Tuesday, August 2 for lunch.

The 4-H office will be offering on Tuesday, August 2 at 11:30 continuous thru 2:30 p.m. a salad luncheon.

This great escape is priced right at $3 and will take place at the Wayne County Extension Center at 5454 Venoy Road in Wayne.

The chefs would appreciate receiving your reservation ahead of time by calling 721-6576. The salad luncheon will offer a fresh salad bar and bake sale to help raise money for a new 4-H project.

Diesel Allison is revving up

It was owned by a driver in Texas, Dostal said. The engine was opened up at the Romulus plant and put on a dyno for checking. Some of the Trade Journals were on hand for the observation. Quality is now a concern of the plant operation.

Dostal noted that as they have recalled its employees they have undergone a re-training program. "The last several groups," he said, "we have taken through a full week of training on how we're changing and running this plant, to bring them up on what maybe they missed while they were on layoff. And that's been a tremendous tool and approach for us that people have appreciated.

"Included in that is the fact we're implementing statistical process control techniques in this plant to improve the quality of our production and to help more and more people participate in and be involved in improving the quality of our products. Statistical Process Control is the use of statistics in basically analyzing problems and controlling the parts a worker makes so he knows when the machine is starting to give trouble or not make the quality needed. It allows the worker closer contact with the quality of the job he is doing, Dostal said.

So far, the plant has taught 780 of the 900 production and quality employees, plus skills trades and control people, a 21-hour course in statistical process control.

This quality control is the same process that Dr. Edward Demming evolved and the Japanese have used so effectively.

For the last 3 or 4 years, the Americans have been implementing it.

Returning to the employment picture,

Dostal is cautious to make a prediction on any more callbacks of laid off employees:

"One of the problems in this business right now is we see about a 45-day window of order, so to speak, and the rest of it is a lot of forecast.

"And it's very hard to read the economic conditions right now. We're talking about maybe increasing rates again and that type of thing.

"We're optimistic that this business will continue to grow slowly but it will be a gradual return, I think, as we go forward, of the balance of those people that are one layoff."

China tour is planned

A visit to China appears to be the most unique and popular travel experience today, and many are taking advantage of it.

The Rev. C. Y. Boyd, former Ann Arbor minister and instructor at Washtenaw Community College, will be hosting a tour October 12-26. This is considered the best time of year to visit China.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd are experienced tour leaders who have traveled in twenty-three countries including the Orient, as well as Alaska and Hawaii.

This time they will land in Tokyo, spend three days in Hong Kong, then go on to Peking where they will visit the fabulous Forbidden City and the Great Wall.

From there they will go to the world famous city of Xian, occupied by man for more than 8,000 years, and see the uncovered wonders of an ancient civilization.

In Shanghai, a city of more than eleven million people, they will see modern China in its forward rush to modernize, visit a commune, a factory workers' residential area, and the Buddha Temple.

A scenic train ride will take them to Hangzhou which is located in the midst of China's most beautiful scenery.

Highlights to be seen in Hangzhou will include the Tu Chin Sheng Silk Brocade factory, West Lake People's Commune, and Hsinan Power Station. Among other sights will be the Ming Tombs and the Temple of Heaven.

The price of the tour, including all meals in China, will be $2999 from Chicago. Reservations are being made now.

Persons interested should call 483-1984 or 824-7011.

Oakbrook nursery has openings

Are you considering a pre-school for your child? The YWCA Oakbrook Nursery still has openings this fall for 3-5 year olds.

Oakbrook Nursery, a co-op nursery, is located at 15001 Brandt, Romulus, near Eureka and Middlebelt. The pre-school program, taught by Mrs. Marilyn Garner of Romulus, meets on Monday and Wednesday mornings from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Fall semester will open on Monday, Sept. 12. The nursery is licensed by the State of Michigan.

For further information, contact Debora Yeager, Chairman, 942-0557 or the YWCA of Western Wayne County, 561-4110.

Resident is valedictorian

Shannon Rhodes of Romulus, was named Valedictorian of the 1983 graduating class of Florida College in Temple Terrace, Florida.

Rhodes, who earned a 3.91 grade point average on two years of work at Florida College was also designated at magna cum laude.

Rhodes, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron L.

Rhodes, is a graduate of Romulus High School where he was valedictorian and also received a scholarship for the National Honor Society.

At Florida College he is in the field of engineering and is a member of the concert band, pep band, drama department and is vice president of Phi Theta Kappa.

All about stress

During the month of August, Saline Community Hospital will be offering an eight-hour "Stress Management Workshop" designed to help participants identify and cope with the stress which is a part of everyday living.

Stress may result from a major change, such as death of a loved one or a divorce, or from our normal pattern of living. Learning to cope with stress can be an extremely effective tool for maintaining health.

Included in the workshop will be the effects of stress on the body and the ways in which good nutrition and exercise may be an aid in combating everyday stress.

Participants will have the opportunity to take part in a relaxation training session and will be assisted in developing an individualized program for managing stress.

The class will be held on four consecutive Monday evenings... August 8, 15, 22 and 29, 1983 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The location for the workshop will be the Saline Community Hospital Wellness Center at the Union School Building (McKay and N. Ann Arbor Streets). The class fee is $30. Registration is required and may be completed by calling the Hospital at 429-5435, ext. 331. Early registration is encouraged as class size is limited.

CITY OF ROMULUS PUBLIC NOTICE

At the annual meeting of the Romulus EDC held on July 13, 1983 the following dates, time and place were determined for the regular monthly meeting for the next twelve month period. All meetings will be held at 1:30 p.m. at the Romulus City Hall Chambers, 11111 Wayne Road, Romulus, Mi. on the following dates.

July lawn and garden guide

The only thing that crops up faster than lawn and garden tasks in July is weeds. Michigan State University Extension specialists suggest the following activities are timely now:

— Continue to water, weed and defend the garden against insects, birds and animals.

— Try to prevent blossom end rot in tomatoes, peppers, eggplant and summer squash by preventing drastic fluctuations in soil moisture. How often you'll have to water to keep soil moisture fairly constant depends on your soil type. Light, sandy soils dry out more quickly than heavier, clay soils. Mulching after watering will help hold moisture in the soil.

— Control early and late blight and anthracnose in tomatoes by applying a fungicide labeled for tomatoes. Consider buying seeds or transplants of resistant varieties next year.

— Plant cool-weather crops for a fall harvest. Sow seeds of radishes, lettuce, spinach, onions and beets, and plant transplants of the cole crops.

— Quick-maturing, warm-weather crops such as beans can also be planted now.

— Keep picking summer squash, peppers and cucumbers to keep plants producing.

— Snip off faded rose flowers before petals begin to drop.

— Continue a regular insect and disease control spray program for roses.

— Prune and fertilize climbing roses after they've flowered.

— Mulch roses with several inches of organic material — herbicide-free grass clippings, shredded bark, compost, ground corn cobs, etc.

— Water lawns that are recovering from Fusarium blight daily during dry weather. And fertilize with ½ pound of actual nitrogen once a month through August to strengthen the plants' roots.

— Keeping your lawn healthy and vigorous is your best defense against insects and weeds. Water and fertilize established lawns to keep them growing well, and raise the mowing height an inch or so during hot weather. This will reduce stress on the lawn and help shade out summer-germinating annual weeds.

— Renovate and fertilize strawberry beds. To renovate, trim or mow off the leaves just above the crowns. Narrow matted rows and thin plants, removing older ones and leaving young, vigorous ones. Apply ½ pound of actual nitrogen per 100 feet of row.

— Dig and divide and replant iris if it hasn't been done in five or six years. Destroy any showing signs of infestation by iris borers.

— Divide Oriental poppies and bleeding heart after the foliage dies.

— Water newly planted trees and shrubs thoroughly once a week during dry weather. They are very sensitive to drought.

— You can still plant container-grown trees and shrubs.

— Aphids in maples and honey locusts will generally be controlled by natural predators. Spray only in extreme cases.

— Keep checking house plants set outdoors for the summer. They dry out quickly and may need daily watering. Watch for insects and control potential problems as soon as you spot them.

Dental Health

KNOWING WHEN YOU NEED IT

No one has to tell you when you're hungry. You know it soon enough when the hunger pangs start. The same goes for other biological needs. You don't tell them. They tell you.

Protecting your dental health is different. You don't always KNOW when you need help. Cavities can go unnoticed before they start causing serious trouble. You can have gum disease and not even know it until you're in danger of losing your teeth.

These are some of the things that make regular dental checkups important. Often a good teeth cleaning is all you may need to get the harmful plaque or tartar buildup off your teeth. But if there's the beginning of a more serious problem, it is much more easily solved when caught early.

Sometimes other health problems can cause tooth decay or gum disease. Your dentist is aware of these, too. But first you have to give him a chance to examine your teeth and mouth. There's no better way to protect your dental health than through regular dental checkups.

Debbie and her sheep — gold ribbon ahead?

Belleville residents eye 4-H Fair honors

Two Belleville area residents are participating in the 4-H sponsored animal program.

Debbie Drongowski, 17, and her brother Mike, 15, members of the High Flyers and Doe-Buck-Kids 4-H Clubs, are participating in sheep and swine projects.

Debbie's sheep, "Frozy Bear," is sponsored by Stella Zmyewski of Wyandotte. Mike's sponsor for his swine project is Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dunbar of Dexter Food Lockers.

A sponsor is someone who helps the 4-Her by purchasing the animal. The 4-Her in turn raises the animal and sells it at the Wayne County Fair Livestock Auction, August 11, Belleville. The sponsor and the 4-Her sign an agreement stating that the sponsor will be paid back the initial loan after the auction.

Debbie has been a member of 4-H for six years, showing sheep for three. She also shows goats and rabbits. Drongowski is the 4-H District winner for the Rabbit Project.

Mike has also been a 4-H member for six years, showing pigs for two. His other 4-H projects are goats and rabbits. He is the 1982-1983 4-H King. Drongowski is also the 4-H District winner for Leadership.

County adopts ordinance

Commissioners restrict outside legal hiring

Wayne County Commissioners, adopted a new ordinance to restrict the hiring of outside legal counsel and sent a much-amended hospital ordinance on a special July 28th meeting of the Commission for further action.

Commissioner Milton Mack's ordinance seeks to limit the hiring of outside legal counsel by elected officials and department heads without first obtaining the approval of the CEO and having the fees budgeted by the County Commission.

It would also require those requesting outside counsel to first obtain written evidence that they were refused service by the Prosecuting Attorney and County Corporation Counsel.

Faced with an almost certain veto by the County Executive, Commissioners, with the exception of Mack and John Hertel, have agreed to give the Kay Beard sponsored version of a County Hospital Ordinance its final reading this Thursday. Mack and Hertel claim the ordinance does not meet the requirements of the new charter.

Mack attempted to have the hospital ordinance returned to committee, arguing that it was being entered as a new law, but the majority agreed with Commissioner Mary Dumas that it was not necessary to reintroduce the ordinance, but to simply consider it as having had its first reading, advertise it, provide a public hearing, and vote on it next week.

The amended ordinance will allow the County Commissioners to select a pool of ten nominees to the Wayne County General Hospital Board of Institutions from which the County Executive may pick four. A fifth will be appointed by the Executive as a member-at-large who resides within the County. The hospital ordinance also stipulates that the five members will represent various groups: a licensed physician, attorney, labor representative, health professional other than a doctor, and a citizen-at-large.

David Plawewski, CEO liaison, told Commissioners last week that the ordinance faced a CEO veto because it does not provide the Executive with full control over the budget, appointments, and administrative responsibilities to properly manage the 151-year-old Westland facility.

Ryan's 140 tops Championship Golf

Title is 1st for 22-year-old Inkster athlete

A young champ

There were many reasons for Inkster's youthful Kevin Ryan (at right) to smile. The former Henry Ford Community College student shot a sizzling 4-under-par 140 at Fellows Creek during the two-day City Championship Golf Tournament to capture medalist honors and become the youngest golfer in the tournament's 24 year history to win. Above, tournament manager Bill Hawley presents the championship trophy and the Inkster city championship to Ryan who beat out a field of more than 100 amateur golfers to win.

Kevin Ryan of Inkster opened with a brilliant 69 on Saturday and finished with a 71 on Sunday to capture the 24th annual City Golf Championship at Fellows Creek Golf Course in Canton Township.

On a day when youth reigned supreme, Ryan, 22, duelled 18-year-old Nunzio Moreno of Canton Township for most of the final round.

Playing in the same foursome, the pair was deadlocked at one-under after the first two holes.

Birdies on 3 and 4 re-established Ryan's slim lead but a double bogey on the 220 yard par three 11th dropped him once again into a tie with the Canton youth.

Ryan answered the challenge magnificently. He reeled off three straight birdies to take the lead for good.

Ryan went on to birdie 16 and 17, giving him 5 birdies in the last 7 holes and a four-under-par 140 for the tournament. Marino finished five strokes back at 145.

Mother nature did her part with beautiful weather for golf and the course was in excellent shape.

"The course here is very well maintained," said Ryan, who should know since he works part-time at Fellows Creek and plays on a team representing the club in Publix competition.

Despite playing to a 2 handicap after only six years of golf, Ryan feels he has a ways to go before any thought is given to becoming a professional.

"I'd like to go to Florida this winter and work on my game. Then I'll continue to play as an amateur and if I can win some big tournaments I might consider turning pro."

Defending champion Claud Johnston of Westland was never a factor in the tournament as he put together rounds of 75 and 74.

"I just couldn't sink any putts," said Johnston who also won the 1972 championship.

Nunzio, making his debut in the prestigious amateur golf tournament, won his first township title and vowed that he would be back a year from now.

"I think it's an excellent tournament and I enjoyed playing in it," he said. "I'll be back."

The tournament remained a "jinx" for Ray Ostyn, who retained Wayne's title for the second consecutive year. He was also awarded the Patrolman Lenny Anderson Memorial trophy.

Ostyn, who has participated in the tournament for more than a decade, finished with a first round 77 and shaved three strokes off that in the finals for a 151.

"Someday I will win this one," he said.

Romulus' John Sample turned in with rounds of 76 and 80 for 156 for that city's crown, while Garden City's title went to George Ostyn, Ray's younger brother.

The tournament is sponsored by the Associated Newspapers and the participating Parks and Recreation Departments of Romulus, Canton, Wayne, Westland, Inkster and Garden City.

The top five finishers in each of the championship flights will advance to the state Parks and Recreation Department's state championship to be held in September in Battle Creek.

"The course was in excellent condition," said Bill Hawley, tournament manager, "and, again, I heard only a few minor complaints. I feel that everyone of the 105 golfers enjoyed themselves."

'Winning Baseball' strikes out with writer

I have been reading Pete Rose's book, "Winning Baseball" with great interest and it's a great book for young boys who aspire to make the big leagues some day but I must say I take exception to one of the things Mr. Rose has to say in his book.

On page 16 he talks about Ty Cobb of the Tigers who had a lifetime average of .367 in his 24 seasons in the big leagues.

In eighteen of those seasons Mr. Cobb hit for an average of .338 or better which is incredible in itself by any standards by even more so in view of the fact that he played in the "deadball era" much of his career.

Of course his speed was great and he (Cobb) spread fear in the hearts of many an infielder with his flashing spikes. Many people claim he sharpened his cleats just to let the other teams know he was playing for keeps each and every time he got on base.

He was probably one of the most hated men ever to put on a big league uniform and even his own teammates disliked him as a man.

But back to Rose's statements in this section of the book. He (Rose) says that no one can convince him that Cobb would've hit for a .367 lifetime average under todays conditions. Rose says the pitchers are better now and the relievers are also much better now because they specialize in a one or two inning stint so consequently they can gear up for only two innings of hard pitching and don't have to worry about getting tired because someone else is always out there; even one or two pitch specialists.

Pete says Cobb would probably hit around .315 or .320 at the most under todays conditions. Poppycock

Mr. Rose. I respect you as a great hitter but you forget one thing. Most of your career you have been playing on that stuff they call "astro-turf" which along with the designated hitter has ruined our national pastime more than you realize. I take nothing away from your 4,000-plus hits Mr. Rose but I'm wondering how many hits you would have now without the astro-turf?

I'd venture a guess at somewhere around 3,000... maybe. Now let's reverse the situation. How many hits would Cobb have in 24 years of playing on that "swift" astro-turf? I will again guess and it would be well over 5,000 career hits for Cobb under today's standards. He would and could hit any pitcher that ever faced him regardless of how hard he threw or whether he was a starter or "one inning wonder a-la-Gossage or Bruce Sutter.

It didn't make any difference if a pitcher threw smoke or a great sinker or a great curve or a tremendous slider, Cobb hit them all like he owned them lock, stock and barrel. In the old days if a fresh pitcher came in, he usually knew how to and could get away with the "spitter", the one all of today's batters cry about when they think a hurler is "wetting" one up.

Cobb hit those spitters too plus the fact that he didn't flinch when someone threw at him, but instead, would drag a bunt down first and dare the pitcher to field it.

As Rose says in his book, his father was his inspiration but Mr. Cobb's father also had a tremendous influence on him and was a perfectionist and trained his son Ty to play hard and back down from no one and to try to be the best.

Canton's best

Marino Nunzio (center) proved he's a power to be contended with in future City Championship Golf tournaments as he fire a one-under par 71 the first day and came back for a 74 to take a two-day, 36-hole 145 to win the Canton Township amateur golf title. He was pushed by runner-up Jeff Harrison and Matt Wiley, who were second and third respectively in the championship flight.

They reign in Inkster

While Kevin Ryan (center) stood head and shoulder over the field, Richard Bailey Sr. (at right) and Richard Dicesore (at left) were forced to settle second place rights by a "sudden death" playoff. When they returned to the clubhouse, Bailey had the runner-up trophy. Both had carded 166's for the 36 holes, far behind Ryan's 140 which gave him both the city and the tournament championships.

In Wayne, it was Ray again

Although the medalist honors continued to elude Ray Ostyn (center), the veteran amateur golfer managed to string together rounds of 77-74 to retain the Wayne city title. He also won the Lenny Anderson Memorial Trophy.

Ray is flanked by runner-up Steve Zaidel (at left) who shot a 153 for the 36-holes, while Rog Sanford finished third in the championship flight.

Half of crown for Westland champ

Claud Johnston (center), who captured the 1982 version of the City Golf Championships a year ago, lost his bid to repeat as medalist, but the two-time tournament champ's 149 earned him Westland's city title. Murray Brooks (at right) was runner-up while Gale Shrewsbury finished third after losing a "sudden death" playoff to Brooks.

Repeat performance

Though he admits it will be difficult to match Tom Piscopink's four victories in Wayne's championship flight, Ray Ostyn (at right) retained the Lenny Anderson Memorial Trophy for the second consecutive year. Above, Lt. William Whitworth of the Wayne Police Department awards the trophy to Ostyn. Patrolman Anderson was the first police officer to die in the line of duty in Wayne. The trophy is awarded to the medalist of the Wayne championship flight.

Seniors split pair on softball diamond

After losing their first game to Allen Park (8-18), the Canton Seniors (sponsored by Superbowl) toughened up enough to win their next two contests. They triumphed over Garden City 14-10, led by the hot bats of Fred Bueckle, Joe Hunsick and Frank Ruhland.

Outstanding fielding by Frank Ireland and Ed Jankowsky made it tough on the Garden City offense.

Then, the Sluggers met at Allen Park's Champaign Park and evened up the score by winning 16-7. Consistent pitching by Judy Bond and home runs by Joe Jagodzinski, Wally Baker and Al Dill led the Sluggers to this victory.

The next game of the Canton Senior Superbowl Sluggers is on Wednesday, July 27 against Garden City at 9:30 a.m. on the home field in Griffin Park.

Mike Ross breaks record at 'Superstars' contest

Mike Ross led an impressive group of local youths in Canton Parks and Recreation Department's Fifth Annual "Superstars" Contest.

Mike broke the 9-under age group record for total points with his total of 46 points. This topped the 1979 record of Joe Murray (38 pts.). Mike took first places in Basketball Shooting and Baseball. Amy O'Connor took second (40 pts.) and Cheryl Hume finished third (33 pts.).

Another near record setting performance was turned in by Jeff Elliott in the 10-12 age group for boys. Jeff received 45 points, missing the record by only 3 1/2 points. In winning Jason Lipke took second in the 9-under group with 43 points and Chris Bray took third with 21 points.

The Girls 9-under group saw Tamara Rogers take top honors with a near-record 50 points. She scored first in four events, Basketball Shooting, Golf Running and Baseball. Amy O'Connor took second (40 pts.) and Cheryl Hume finished third (33 pts.).

Another near record setting performance was turned in by Jeff Elliott in the 10-12 age group for boys. Jeff received 45 points, missing the record by only 3 1/2 points. In winning his age group, Jeff won the Basketball Dribbling, Frisbee and Baseball and took second in Basketball Shooting. Andy Shiner took second place with 33 points and Mike Stelmazek finished third with 19 points.

Susan Ferko, a past winner in the girls 9-under age group, moved up and won the 10-12 age group with a fine performance of 36 points to edge out Jenny Smith (32 points). Susan scored in all events except one and took first in Basketball Dribbling and Baseball. Third place went to Jeanine Lenaghan with 26 points.

Ross is superstar

Boys 13-15 age group saw the closest contest with Steve Nickerson winning over Tony Shiner by a single point 41-40. Steve took top honors in Golf, Running and Baseball while Tony won the Basketball Dribbling, Frisbee and Soccer. Third place went to former two-time champion Joe Murray (30 points).

Dena Had took top honors in the girls 13-15 group with a great performance of 55 points to outdistance second place Jenny Kincer (40 pts.). Dena scored in six of the seven events with first places in 5 of them.

Her 55 points tied the second best score even in her age group and she missed the record by only 3 1/2 points. Third place went to Anne Marie Zimmerman with 23 points.

Over 150 participants turned in some outstanding performances in the warm and sunny weather.

She's in the Navy

ASM3 Karin Torres of Romulus, a member of Naval Reserve unit Naval Air Facility Lajes, Azores 0473 performed annual active duty for training at her home site located near Portugal. The unit is based most of the year at Naval Air Facility in Detroit. During the unit's period of duty at Lajes Field, the 42 officer and enlisted personnel performed around the clock duty in support of the multi-national Naval exercise "Ocean Safari", involving Naval and Air Forces from NATO countries. Additionally, each member of this reserve unit was supervised in bringing their professional Naval qualifications up to date. Lajes Field, is located on the Island of Terceira, the most historic of nine in the North Atlantic Ocean.

SPECIAL MEETING HURON TOWNSHIP BOARD JULY 15, 1983

The Special Meeting of the Township Board was called to order by Supervisor Haener at 5 P.M.

Roll Call: Ashby, Bates, Carey, Gamber, Geierman, Haener and Puskar were all present.

Also present: Attorney Ronald E. Witthoff.

Clerk Carey reported to the Board that after thorough research and discussion with the M.T.A. Legal Consultants and the Township Attorney that there is nothing in the statutes pertaining to wording for petitions calling for a Special Election to approve a special assessment to establish a "legal defense fund". The Township Board has the authority to call a special election without the petition drive by the people.

Attorney Witthoff concurred and explained about the special wording for a ballot proposal.

Motion by Puskar Supported by Bates
Amend the Agenda for this Special Meeting to include discussion of calling for a Special Election asking for the establishment of a Professional Defense Fund for the protection of the Health, Safety and Welfare of the Township of Huron.

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING ORDINANCE NO. 65-86 BEING AN ORDINANCE ENACTED UNDER ACT 207, PUBLIC ACTS OF 1921, AS AMENDED, GOVERNING THE INCORPORATED PORTIONS OF THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE, WAYNE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, TO REGULATE AND RESTRICT THE LOCATION AND USE OF BUILDINGS, STRUCTURES AND LAND FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY, RESIDENCE AND FOR PUBLIC AND SEMIPUBLIC OR OTHER SPECIFIED USES; AND TO REGULATE AND LIMIT THE HEIGHT AND BULK OF BUILDINGS AND OTHER STRUCTURES; TO REGULATE AND TO DETERMINE THE SIZE OF YARDS, COURTS, AND OPEN SPACES; TO REGULATE AND LIMIT THE DENSITY OF POPULATION; AND FOR SAID PURPOSES TO DIVIDE THE MUNICIPALITY UNTO DISTRICTS AND ESTABLISHING THE BONDARIES THEREOF; PROVIDING FOR CHANGES IN THE REGULATIONS, RESTRICTIONS AND BOUNDARIES OF SUCH DISTRICTS, DEFINING CERTAIN TERMS USED HEREIN; PROVIDING FOR ENFORCEMENT; ESTABLISHING A BOARD OF APPEALS; AND IMPOSING PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION OF THIS ORDINANCE.

THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE ORDAINS:

Section 1. That Ordinance No. 65-86, as amended, entitled "City of Belleville Zoning Ordinance" be and is hereby further amended by amending Sections 7.3, 8.2, and 9.3 of said Ordinance which amended sections will read as follows:

Section 7.3 - USES PERMISSIBLE ON SPECIAL APPROVAL - The following uses shall also be permitted subject to the conditions hereinafter imposed for each use.

(a) Automobile service station for sale of gasoline, oil, and minor accessories only, and where no repair work is done, other than incidental service, but not including steam cleaning or undercoating.

(1) The curb cuts for ingress and egress to a service station shall not be permitted at such locations that will tend to create traffic hazards in the streets immediately adjacent thereto. Entrances shall be no less than twenty-five (25) feet from a street intersection (measured from the road right-of-way) or from adjacent residential districts.

(2) The minimum lot area shall be ten thousand (10,000) square feet, and so arranged that ample space is available for motor vehicles which are required to wait. Provided further, that before a permit is issued to build or construct a new automobile service station there shall be filed with the application for building permit, the written consent of seventy-five (75%) percent of the property owners of all property within a radius of four hundred (400) feet of any part of the premises whereon the new automobile service station is to be built or constructed; this proviso shall not apply to the modernization or reconstruction of existing automobile service stations.

(3) There shall be provided, on those sides abutting or adjacent to a residential district, an obscuring wall or fence not less than four feet, six inches (4'6") nor more than five feet (5') in height. The height of the walls shall be measured from the surface of the ground.

(4) All lighting shall be shielded from adjacent residential districts.

(b) Publicly owned buildings, public utility buildings, telephone exchange buildings, electric transformer stations not sub-stations, gas regulator stations with service yards, but without storage yards; water and sewage pumping stations.

(c) Residential living quarters may be permitted in any building, the use of which is in compliance with the ordinance, provided:

(1) The number of residential units shall be limited to four (4) per building;

(2) The units may only be established in a building in which there exists an on-going permitted use, which occupies fifty (50%) percent of the total square footage of the building;

(3) One of the residential units must be used only by owners, operators, managers, employees or students connected with the existing permitted use or the owner, operator or manager of the building itself;

(4) The minimum number of off-street parking spaces shall be one and one-half spaces per unit, which shall be in addition to any parking requirements related to the permitted use (this provision is to apply notwithstanding any other provision in the ordinance to the contrary);

(5) Each residential unit shall be a minimum of eight hundred fifty (850) square feet and must include kitchen and sanitary facilities.

Section 8.2 - REQUIRED CONDITIONS

(a) All business establishments shall be retail or service establishments dealing directly with consumers. All goods provided on the premises shall be sold at retail on the premises where produced.

(b) All business, servicing or processing, except for off-street parking, loading and those open air uses shall be conducted within completely enclosed buildings.

(c) Residential living quarters may also be permitted upon special approval in any building, the use of which is in compliance with this ordinance, provided:

(1) The number of residential units shall be limited to four (4) per building;

(2) The units may only be established in a building in which there exists an on-going permitted use, which occupies fifty (50%) percent of the total square footage of the building;

(3) One of the residential units must be used only by owners, operators, managers, employees or students connected with the existing permitted use or the owner, operator or manager of the building itself;

(4) The minimum number of off-street parking spaces shall be one and one-half spaces per unit, which shall be in addition to any parking requirements related to the permitted use (this provision is to apply notwithstanding any other provision in the ordinance to the contrary);

(5) Each residential unit shall be a minimum of eight hundred fifty (850) square feet and must include kitchen and sanitary facilities.

Section 9.3 - USES PERMISSIBLE ON SPECIAL APPROVAL - The following uses shall also be permitted subject to the conditions hereinafter imposed for each use.

(a) Outdoor sales space for exclusive sale of secondhand automobiles or house trailers subject to the following:

(1) All lighting shall be shielded from adjacent residential districts.

(2) Ingress and egress to the outdoor sales area shall be at least sixty (60) feet from the intersection of any two (2) streets

(3) The entire area used for storage, display, or sale, shall have asphalt tic or concrete surfacing in accordance with specifications approved by the Municipal Engineer. Such facilities shall be so drained so as to dispose of all surface water accumulated in the area.

(4) An obscuring wall or fence of not less than four feet, six inches (4'6") nor more than five feet (5') in height shall be provided when abutting or adjacent districts are zoned for residential use.

(5) No major repair or major refinishing shall be done on the lot.

(b) Motel, subject to the following:

(1) Provided that it can be demonstrated that ingress and egress do not conflict with adjacent business uses.

(2) An obscuring wall or fence of not less than four feet, six inches (4'6") nor more than five feet (5') in height shall be provided where abutting or adjacent districts are zoned for residential use.

(3) No kitchen or cooking facilities are to be provided, with the exception of units for the use of the manager or caretaker.

(4) Each unit shall contain not less than two hundred and fifty (250) square feet of floor area.

(c) Business in the character of a drive-in, so-called, or so-called open front store subject to the following:

(1) A setback of at least sixty (60) feet from the right-of-way line of any existing or proposed street must be maintained.

(2) Ingress and egress points shall be located at least sixty (60) feet from intersection of any two (2) streets.

(3) All lighting shall be shielded from adjacent residential districts.

(4) An obscuring wall or fence of not less than four feet, six inches (4'6") nor more than five feet (5') in height shall be provided where abutting or adjacent to a residential district. The height of the wall shall be measured from the surface of the ground.

(5) Before a permit is issued to build or construct a new drive-in, so-called, or so-called open front store, or the enlargement of any such existing use, there shall be filed with the application for building permit the written consent of seventy-five (75%) percent of the property owners of all property within a radius of four hundred (400) feet of any of the premises whereon the drive-in or open front store is to be built, constructed or enlarged.

(d) Commercially used outdoor recreational space for children's amusement parks, carnivals, miniature golf courses, subject to the following:

(1) Children's amusement park shall be fenced on all sides with a four (4) foot chain link type fence where adjacent to the use.

(3) Nursery sales for the retail of: plant materials not grown on the site, lawn furniture, garden and lawn supplies and equipment subject to the following conditions:

(1) The minimum site area shall be fifty thousand (50,000) square feet and there shall be erected on the site a permanent enclosed building of at least two thousand (2,000) square feet.

(2) Off-street parking constructed as required in Section 15.14 of the Zoning Ordinance shall be provided on the basis of one (1) parking space for each four hundred (400) square feet of outside storage, sales space and usable floor area within the building.

(3) There shall be no storage of loose top soil, fertilizer, stone or other similar types of loose materials unless such materials are stored in bins having dimensions of not less than sixteen (16) feet by twelve (12) feet, and a height not more than eight (8) feet and such bins shall provide covering to keep the loose materials from blowing around the area.

(4) The storage and/or display of any materials and/or products shall meet all set-back requirements of a structure.

(5) There shall be provided, on those sides abutting or adjacent to a residential district, an obscuring wall or fence not less than four feet, six inches (4'6") nor more than five feet (5') in height. The height of the wall shall be measured from the established grade level of the ground.

(f) Arcades (Mechanical Amusement Devices)

(1) Before permit is issued to use any premises for an arcade or mechanical amusement device business, there shall be filed with the application for permit the written consent of seventy-five (75%) percent of the property owners of all property within a radius of one thousand (1,000) feet of any of the premises whereon the arcade is to be operated.

(2) An obscuring wall or fence of not less than four feet, six inches (4'6") nor more than five feet (5') in height shall be provided where abutting or adjacent to a residential district. The height of the wall shall be measured from the surface of the ground.

(3) All lighting shall be shielded from adjacent residential districts.

(4) Any provision in the Zoning Ordinance to the contrary notwithstanding, one (1) parking space shall be provided for each four hundred (400) square feet of floor space used for machines plus one (1) parking space for each mechanical device on the premises.

(g) Residential living quarters may be permitted in any building, the use of which is in compliance with this ordinance provided:

(1) The number of residential units shall be limited to four (4) per building;

(2) The units may only be established in a building in which there exists an on-going permitted use, which occupies fifty (50%) percent of the total square footage of the building;

(3) One of the residential units must be used only by owners, operators, managers, employees or students connected with the existing permitted use or the owner, operator or manager of the building itself;

(4) The minimum number of off-street parking spaces shall be one and one-half spaces per unit, which shall be in addition to any parking requirements related to the permitted use (this provision is to apply notwithstanding any other provision in the ordinance to the contrary);

(5) Each residential unit shall be a minimum of eight hundred fifty (850) square feet and must include kitchen and sanitary facilities.

Section 2. All ordinances and parts of ordinances in contrast with a provision of this ordinance are hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict.

Section 3. This ordinance shall take effect August 1, 1983.

OFFERS A 1983 MODEL MULTI-MILLION-DOLLAR NEW CAR CLEARANCE SALE

OUT THEY GO! Regardless of Price!!! And Believe Me, They Must! Folks, as you are fully aware, we are America's #1 Give-A-Way Artists

If ever there was a time to absolutely steal a new Car, Jeep, or Truck it's NOW — NOW — NOW!!! Starting today is the largest new car sale in American automotive history. We call it: "Our Multi-Million-Dollar Give-A-Way!" Come one and all, by the thousands as you folks do, every day of the week. We are very proud to say we have so many, many customers that we are finding it almost impossible to have enough opening hours to attend to each and every one of them. This is an opportunity of a lifetime to name your price, write your own deal, pick up your car, and run. We say we'll take anything on 4 wheels in trade, provided it runs, and believe me, we will. Home Care Coordinator

If you are eager to put your commitment to professional nursing practice, education and research into action, the University of Michigan Hospitals has an ideal position for you. We are seeking candidates to fill the position of Home Care Coordinator based in our Community Health Nursing Department. The Home Care Coordinator serves as consultant to the health care team for the coordination and planning for those patients who require home care services. The selected candidate will act as liaison between University Hospitals, Ambulatory Care Services, and external agencies to provide assessment of community resources to meet specific home care needs of the patient population. This specialist provides internal and external educational programming regarding discharge planning and home care. Qualifications for the position include a BSN, a minimum of one year as a community health nurse in a home health agency, and a minimum of one year inpatient experience in adult medical-surgical nursing. The successful candidate will have demonstrated interpersonal skills and will have the ability to work independently in a consultant role. For a closer look at what U of M Hospitals has to offer your career, please call us collect at (313) 763-4600, or write to: Nurse Employment Office, University of Michigan Hospitals, 300 N. Ingalls, Box 50, Ann Arbor, MI 48109.

Free Hearing Tests Set For Senior Citizens

Thursday July 28, Friday July 29
Saturday July 30
9 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Free electronic hearing tests will be given at the Beltone Hearing Aid Center this week, Thurs., July 28 thru Sat., July 30, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Factory trained hearing aid specialists will perform the testing. Where? Metro Place Mall. Downtown Wayne.

Anyone who has trouble hearing is welcome to have a test using our modern electronic equipment to determine if his loss is one which may be helped. Diagrams showing how the ear works and some of the causes of hearing loss will be discussed. Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year if there is any trouble at all hearing conversation clearly. Even people now wearing a hearing aid or those who have been told nothing could be done for them should have a hearing test and find out about the current methods of hearing correction.

ATTENTION: SHUT IN SENIORS
AT HOME TESTING AT NO CHARGE OR OBLIGATION

The Free Hearing Tests will be given only at

Beltone Hearing Aid Center
METRO PLACE MALL — WAYNE, MICH.

Copies of all tests available for your doctor.

To avoid waiting please call:

Annual event continues to grow

The stores have changed in appearance. So have the styles and the shoppers. One thing that remains unchanged is the popularity of Wayne's Sidewalk Sale, which began in the mid-1950's. This year some 39 merchants are participating in the festivities.
